Civic Ratepayers' Group Selects Tentative Slate Plan to Contest Offices In Local Election Campaign

Four Choices for Mayoralty Candidate Made But Which One Will Run Not Yet Been Decided; Temporary Aldermanic Candidates Also Named; Next Meeting Will Make Final Selection of Slate Asking Public Support at December Election

A tentative slate of candidates to contest the mayoralty and aldermanic offices at the civic election in December was chosen by the executive of the Victoria Ratepayers' Association yesterday evening, it was learned today.

None of the proposed candidates have as yet consented to stand, but they will be interviewed by members of the executive and their reactions learned within a few days.

Those mentioned for the mayoralty are said to be J. H. Fletcher, Herbert Kent, Frank Le Roy, president of the Ratepayers' Association, and Alderman R. T. Williams.

ALDERMANIC SLATE
The five names heading the ballot for aldermanic candidatures were those of Frank Le Roy, John Dean, A. E. Haynes, W. Maynard and W. J. Mable. Some of those named are not members of the ratepayers' association.

Another meeting of the association will be necessary before the final slate is selected, it is understood.

It is understood that in choosing the slate, the rule has been laid down that any candidate proposed who does not receive the endorsement of the association must agree not to run independently. The association will then stand directly and solidly back of the candidates chosen.

NOT CAMPAIGN EXPECTED

Entry of a full slate by the ratepayers' association is expected to inject more enthusiasm than usual into the election campaign.

Alderman Williams announced his intention more than a month ago of contesting the mayoralty but has not stated his stand in the event he does not receive the nomination of the association. His term on the council does not expire until next year and it would be necessary for him to resign his aldermanic seat before entering the campaign for mayor.

John Dean, who is mentioned for the ratepayers' slate, has been through several civic election campaigns.

Outlaw Bookies Witnesses For Gangster at Tax Hearing in Chicago

By VICTOR HACKLER
Associated Press Writer
Chicago, Oct. 14.—Alphonse Capone today opened his fight for acquittal in charges of evading income taxes with an account of his gambling losses.

The husky gang leader is a poor judge of race horses, the jury in the United States circuit court was told. "He won some bets, but not very many," Milton Field, a bookmaker, testified.

Field, although he had no records prove it and could remember no individual transactions, estimated Capone lost between $8,000 and $10,000 during the summer meeting at the Hawthorne racetrack in 1924 and about $12,000 in the fall of 1925 at the track.

Baton Rouge, La., Oct. 14.—Governor Huey P. Long today ordered state policemen to arrest Lieutenant Governor Paul N. Cyr if he should appear at the capitol and press his claim he is the rightful governor of Louisiana.

A state policeman stationed in the office of Miss Alice Lee Grosjean, Secretary of State, was instructed to eject Mr. Cyr if he should appear and arrest him if he should press his claim.

Mr. Cyr filed his claim by mail with the Secretary of State, after he had taken the oath as governor yesterday in Shreveport. He contends that Long is a United States senator and cannot hold both offices.

From his home in Jeanerette, Mr. Cyr said he did not plan to go to Baton Rouge today.

Australian Senate Group Declares For Lower Tariff Basis

Cranberra, Australia, Oct. 14.—In order to give a lead to the adoption of reciprocal trade agreements throughout the empire, a number of members of the Australian Senate have decided to insist on general reduction of Australian tariffs, particularly the rates against British goods.

The decision was taken at a meeting today of senators opposing the Labor Government, which is in a minority in the Upper House. The meeting passed a unanimous resolution declaring its intention "to endeavor to obtain amendments in the tariff schedule by reduction of excessive duties, and by such further reduction of duties against British imports as will foster empire trade and lead to the adoption by Great Britain and Australia and other Dominions of effective reciprocal trade agreements benefiting every unit of the empire."

Immigration Discussed By Island Women In Conference Here To-day

British Settlers and Foreign Born on Land Debated

Rural Problems Considered By Delegates This Morning

Problems affecting rural communities, particularly along such lines as the canalization of foreign-born settlers, were aired in the discussions which followed interesting reports presented at the opening session this morning of the annual district conference of Women's Institutes of South Vancouver Island.

Mrs. W. Robinson of Vimy W.L., president of the district board, was in the chair and about 100 representatives of the institutes were in attendance at the conference, which is being held in the Liberal members' room at the Parliament Buildings.

IMMIGRATION PROBLEMS
Mrs. B. A. McMillan's report on immigration, read by Mrs. Barry, evoked interesting discussion. Several speakers emphasized the need for encouraging British settlers.

"Are our own sons and daughters willing to do what these foreigners are doing in settling the land and pioneering under difficulties?" Mrs. Frank Campbell asked.

Mrs. W. Southin of Ladysmith expressed the opinion that more Canadian women would go on the land if they were given the same measure of assistance as was given to incoming settlers.

Mrs. V. S. MacLachlan pointed out that while she favored British immigration, Dr. Greg, of the University of Saskatchewan, had made the statement that it was not the students of English or Scottish stock, nor of Canadian stock, who led in their studies, but the sons and daughters of the foreign-born Canadians, who had worked hard to learn the language.

AGAINST GROUP SETTLEMENT
Mrs. J. D. Gordon contributed to the discussion the suggestion that the women urge upon the Dominion Government that it should not encourage group settlement.

PACIFIC FLIERS HOP TO OMAHA

Spokane, Wash., Oct. 14.—Bound for Omaha, where they planned to stop overnight, Clyde Pangborn and Hugh Herndon Jr., trans-Pacific fliers, took off this morning at 6:30 on route to New York, the starting point of their globe girdling flight.

Their big red monoplane was loaded with 600 gallons of gasoline, enough, Pangborn said, to carry them to New York. By flying non-stop to Omaha, they expected to reach that city about 4:30 o'clock this afternoon, making the jump in ten hours.

The fliers planned to fly via Missoula, Butte and Livingston, Mont., cutting south at Livingston in a direct line for Omaha.

British Government to Have Two-to-one Majority in 70 Pre-vote Decisions

London, Oct. 14.—The National Government expects to get off to a flying start in the early stage of the general election. Indications are that between sixty and seventy members will have been returned by acclamation by the time the nominations close on Friday.

The government expects to have a majority of between twenty and thirty when these are all in.

Three members have been elected already. The Scottish universities, entitled to three seats in the new House, have already returned three supporters of the government—two Conservatives and one Liberal.

GAIN FOR NATIONALISTS
On nomination day, according to present calculations, the acclamations should include forty-one Conservatives, three National-Independents, twenty-one Labor candidates and one Liberal.

Ten expected acclamations in English boroughs are evenly divided between Conservatives and Labor. In the English counties, whose constituencies are largely rural, indications point to twenty-seven Conservative acclamations against six Labor. In the Welsh counties Labor has seven candidates opposed so far, and the Conservatives one.

These calculations will stand in the main, although unexpected candidates may of course appear in the eve of the nominations.

KNOWN IN CANADA
Among the Conservatives likely to be elected by acclamation is Col. Hamilton Gault, educated in Canada, although a native of England. Col. Gault raised and equipped the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry for active service in the Great War, and was wounded three times while serving in France, receiving the Distinguished Service Order. He still retains directorships in a number of Canadian companies, including the Gault Brothers' Company and the Montreal Cotton Lint Company.

Col. Gault's constituency is Taunton, Somerset, which he won for the Conservatives from the Liberals in 1924. In the last general election he was re-elected with a vote of 15,083, compared with 11,121 for Rea, Liberal, and 6,615 for Sparks, Labor.

On election day, October 27, some of the polls will close at 9 p.m., and others at 9 p.m. (noon and 1 p.m. Victoria time). It is expected the results in 200 seats will be available the same evening, but the bulk of declarations will not be made until the morning after the polling.

ADVICE OFFERED SALMON PACKERS

Must Quote Lower Prices For Australian Business, Says Commissioner

A warning to British Columbia packers on quicker action in the future in naming opening prices of salmon for the Australian market to preclude their competitors in Siberia, Japan, Alaska and the United States is given in a report on the subject received by the Canadian Chamber of Commerce from H. D. Ross, Canadian Trade Commissioner in Australia.

Australian importers, Mr. Ross says, have frequently expressed their surprise and fail to understand the reason why Canadian packers were not able at the opening of the season to quote their 1930 pack at less prices than those quoted by United States and Alaska packers. He emphasizes that Canadian exporters must meet competition early in the selling season to obviate buyers placing extensive orders for foreign salmon, as they did in 1930, and not be too late in submitting reduced quotations in an endeavor to fill orders which had been placed elsewhere.

Notwithstanding the preference on Canadian salmon of six shillings per case, the commissioner points out United States "medium red" was at the beginning of the 1930 season quoted at 49 cents a case below what Canadian salmon of similar quality could be landed, duty paid, at principal Australian ports.

Interesting information on importations and amended tariff rates under the Australian Treaty are included in the report.

SAANICH WILL NOT CELEBRATE TRAFALGAR DAY

Trustees Reject Invitation to Send Scholars to Navy League Ceremony

No celebration of Trafalgar Day, on Wednesday, October 21, will be countenanced by the Saanich School Board. A request for co-operation, submitted by the Navy League of Canada, was denied yesterday evening at the instance of Trustees H. L. Briggs, who voiced objection to commemoration of battles or paying honor to leaders in war.

NO TRANSPORTATION
The board rejected requests by two high school teachers for mileage allowances, for daily trips between the three high schools. The trustees were unanimous that the teachers were well aware, when they accepted the positions, that the duties would require them to teach in several schools and provide their own transportation. One teacher submitted an account for thirty-five miles daily at ten cents per mile.

RESIDENTS FAVORED
Every effort is being made to give Saanich residents preference in employment on construction of the new Carey Road High School, the trustees were assured by Trustees W. Tomes, chairman of the works committee. H. Porter waited on the board and said many speakers at public meetings had commented on the matter. He expressed himself as satisfied with the explanation given.

INSURANCE COSTS
The board was informed that protective insurance against its legal liability for accidents to 2,000 pupils would cost $325 annually and decided against insuring.

The trustees were told that fire insurance premiums paid in ten years by Saanich had amounted to $8,000. A claim of $3,500 had been paid the municipality for destruction of Gordon Head School, making the net loss $4,500 in ten years.

Vancouver, Oct. 14.—Waving aside "pet plans" for the relief of some specific phase of the depression in the United States, the American Federation of Labor in convention here today adopted a broad nine-point programme advanced by its executive council. The nine points were listed as follows:

1. Maintain wages.
2. Shorten work hours.
3. Assure employment to minimum work forces. This is designed to take care of the slack period between November and April.
4. Each employer to take on additional workers.
5. Create work through public building.

EDISON TAKING NO FOOD, SAYS HIS PHYSICIAN

Impossible to Predict How Long Heart Will Hold Out, Doctor States

West Orange, N.J., Oct. 14.—Although Thomas A. Edison has had nothing to eat or drink except six spoonfuls of pears since last Friday, his physician today said nothing had developed to cause immediate concern.

Dr. Hubert S. Howe's morning statement read:

"Mr. Edison rested quietly all night. There are indications of increasing weakness, but nothing new has developed to cause immediate concern."

The physician said Mr. Edison was constantly in a stupor verging on a state of coma which is expected to precede death.

Dr. Howe said that because of the inventor's remarkably strong heart it was impossible to predict how long he could live without nourishment. It is nine days since Mr. Edison had any food except the few spoonfuls of stewed pears, and he has had no fluids at all since Friday night.

The physician said it was difficult to tell whether the patient really recognized anyone any more. He said that sometimes when someone would walk through the room Mr. Edison would rouse enough to notice the person and smile, but this was not real proof of recognition.

FORM OF INVITATION
Members of the Council, who heard both sides of the Manchurian conflict Tuesday, assembled in private session before Mr. Briand's conference began and considered the form of an invitation to the United States to sit with the council's executive board in the present extraordinary session.

The impression prevailed among those who have been watching developments closely that the United States would be ready to accept an invitation to participate only providing there was unanimous agreement, including that of the Japanese representative.

Vancouver, Oct. 14.—While dismissing Dorothy Richards' appeal from a conviction by Magistrate George Jay of Victoria for conducting a common gaming house through operating a vending machine, the B.C. Court of Appeal to-day quashed that part of the magistrate's order which confiscated the machine.

Mr. Justice McPhillips pointed out that the Supreme Court of Canada had decided the machine itself was lawful. The law pertaining to the operation of vending machines would appear, according to admissions of counsel, to be veiled in an ambiguity of conflicting court decisions extending across Canada.

The appeal of Dorothy Richards, Victoria, was taken as a test case for this province. A fine of $25 against her as "keeper of a common gaming house" on Douglas Street, stands, but the court has released the machine. The prosecution was based, from seizure, it is said to be worth $150, and there are hundreds of other machines of a similar kind throughout the province.

alike joining the attack on socialism. "The vital issue in this election," explains the London Evening News, "is the issue of capitalism against socialism."

One of the pamphlets issued from Liberal headquarters is the text of a speech by Sir John Simon, now leader of the House of Commons, in which he said that the National Government, in which Sir John replied to a socialist resolution moved in the Commons eight years ago by Rt. Hon. Philip Snowden.

MACDONALD STILL LABOURITE

At the same time the elector learns that Premier MacDonald, repudiated by the Labour Party, still declares himself a Labour man.

But a Labour opposition headquarters are not without a touch of irony in again issuing during the present campaign "Labour and the Nation" which Premier MacDonald himself wrote the foreword. In the present edition of "Labour and the Nation," Mr. MacDonald's signature, it contains this declaration:

"The Labour Party, unlike other parties, is not concerned with patching holes in a bad system, but with transforming capitalism into socialism. The party is essentially one of action and not of words. It is the only party in the country which is prepared to lay the foundations of a new social order and to relieve immediate distress."

CONSERVATIVES URGE TARIFFS

All Conservative literature urges protection. There is a poster depicting protection as the dawn of better days. But a Liberal leaflet, similarly urging the return of the National Government, roundly declares in black, underlined type: "We are convinced that protective duties far more harm than good."

And to complete the circle of confusion the Labourites are issuing the "Labour and the Nation" leaflet, in which Philip Snowden, retiring Chancellor of the Exchequer, made in 1920. The opening paragraph of the leaflet runs:

"Our free trade policy is gravely menaced by a powerful combination of interests and persons, and a widely circulated newspaper press, all aided for one time by the temporary wave of world-wide trade depression."

AGRICULTURAL PARTY

London, Oct. 14.—An Agricultural Party has been added to the welter of parties contesting the present general election campaign in Great Britain. J. F. Wright, its chairman, is the candidate against Lord Rimley, National-Liberal, in eastern Norfolk.

The Agricultural Party expects to run candidates against National-Liberals in two other eastern agricultural constituencies.

Lord Rimley holds a junior post in the National Ministry—he is an assistant whip—and as there is already a Labour candidate in eastern Norfolk, Wright's entry means a three-cornered fight. The secretary of the Agricultural Party follows the withdrawal of the prospective Conservative candidate.

FOOD DUTIES
The Agricultural Party's programme calls for imposition of a protective tariff on foodstuffs.

Lord Rimley, however, is not to be regarded as a fully-pledged agricultural protectionist.

It was the Agricultural Party that organized the Norwich meeting at which Lord Beaverbrook put forward his platform of Empire free trade last year. Lord Beaverbrook, at the time, was said to have won considerable support from the Norfolk farmers.

In Norfolk, eastern, Lord Rimley was elected in 1929 by a vote of 13,949 to 12,434 for Reginald Neville, former Conservative member, and 7,856 for W. Homes, Labour.

Regina, Oct. 14.—Speedy formation of an "100 per cent" co-operative government in Saskatchewan is urged in a letter, widely circulated throughout the province to-day by Jacob Benson, Progressive member of the Legislature for the constituency of Last Mountain.

Mr. Benson suggests inclusion in the coalition of three Conservatives, three Liberals, one Progressive and one Independent to carry on until the next general election falls due in 1934.

ANDERSON CABINET

Known as the Co-operative Government, the present administration in Saskatchewan consists of nine Conservatives and one Progressive, Hon. Reginald Stipe, minister without portfolio.

It was formed following the general election of 1929, when twenty-eight Liberals were elected as against a combination of thirty-five Conservatives, Independents and Progressives.

The Legislature was called in which the Gardner administration, then in power, was defeated on a vote of want of confidence.

Premier Benson in his resignation as Premier on September 9, 1929, Hon. J. T. M. Anderson then forming his co-operative government with the support of the Independents and the Progressives.

WELFARE OF PEOPLE
"The welfare of the people demands that there should be co-operation among all the members," writes Mr. Benson. "A 100 per cent co-operative government should be established to carry on until the election in 1934. The Conservatives should have a representative in the cabinet of eight."

Mr. Benson states the interests of the province "are of much greater importance than those of any party or of any individual member of the Legislature." The government, he maintains, should be reorganized to deal properly with "the present difficult situation."

"Announcement of this effect, in a programme of economy and reduced expenditure for the 1932 fiscal year, is expected either this week or next."

"The cut, as well as a new tax on automobiles, is at present said to be as follows: Exemption up to $1,000; from $1,000 to $2,000, reduction of 5 per cent; from $2,000 to $3,000, 7 1/2 per cent; from $3,000 to $5,000, 10 per cent, and over $5,000, 15 per cent."

"This cut will apply to members of the cabinet. It is also said a reduction will be made in the yearly indemnity paid members of the House. The indemnity stands now at $2,000 and the cut is likely to be $500."

COSTS MOUNTING
"The reductions, it is said, are planned with a view to reducing expenditures for the next fiscal year by at least $5,000,000 in order to balance the present mounting expenditures for unemployment and the contrasting reduced revenues."

"The government will save, in the reduction of salaries, roughly $1,000,000."

"The cut will probably apply to members of the Liquor Control Board staff, but it is unlikely it will apply to the Ontario Hydro-electric Commission."

OTHER MEASURES
"Other drastic methods of retrenchment in expenditures are also expected."

"In looking for increased revenues," the newspaper added, "the government plans a further tax on automobiles, irrespective of the license, of probably $2 a year, which would not be levied on a military car or on a taxicab."

"The tax on buses and trucks operating on the highway."

RELIEF PLANS FOR U.S.

"We declare our unqualified faith in friendly conferences and negotiations with employers as the most effective method of maintaining just and satisfactory industrial relations. We unqualifiedly reaffirm our faith and loyalty to the principle of collective bargaining through trade union representation."

The committee in its report, considering it is promoting the cause of true temperance, asks the convention to adhere to labor's stand for beer of 3 1/2 per cent alcoholic content. This position was taken several years ago and the executive council of the federation urged it be maintained.

At the same time two resolutions, one backed by the vestigial remains of the bar-tenders union, and the other by the Tacoma central labor council, asks repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment or of the Volstead Act.

Vancouver, Oct. 14.—The question of unemployment insurance provoked a sharp clash in the American Federation of Labor convention here to-day.

The report of the resolutions committee commending the stand of the Federation's executive council against unemployment insurance revealed the most violent differences of opinion expressed on the floor since the opening of the convention last week.

James Duncan of the Canadian Labor Council, charged inaction by the Federation Government in the present unemployment situation constituted "wholesale murder by denying us the right to work."

W. H. Will, third vice-president of the A.F.L., and chairman of the resolutions committee, replied to Duncan's statements by asserting unemployment insurance was undesirable, and that even if the federation were to support it, the constitution of the United States would have to be amended before it could be instituted.

"SOOTHING SYRUP"
Duncan described the executive council report on unemployment insurance as "soothing syrup."

"Lull yourselves to sleep with it if you will," he said. "I wanted something to eat and a ghost story. I would call on the author of that report. A large number of our affiliated trades are not all crazy. They call attention to the failure of the dole in Great Britain and Germany. We are not in Great Britain, Germany or Russia, because we are not in those countries we would do differently."

IN BRITAIN
Will, in answering Duncan's arguments, insisted the workers in Great Britain did not favor unemployment insurance, that their troubles had nothing to do with unemployment insurance, and that such insurance would transfer the responsibility for steady employment from industry to the government.

The picture of the labor situation in Great Britain, Will said, "Ramsay MacDonald is on the one side and Arthur Henderson on the other. Henderson is resting his campaign on a plea for cancellation of war debts. That means debts due to America—money which you and I are paying and why? To balance the British budget and pull themselves out of the hole their industrial system and the dole has put them into."

RIGHT TO WORK
Andrew Furuseth, Washington, D.C., head of the seamen's union, also opposed unemployment insurance in principle.

"We have the right to work under the Declaration of Independence," Furuseth said, "but where does it say employers and the state are delegated to see we have the opportunity to work? I have been unable to find it."

Reports received here to-day said United States naval vessels in Oriental waters had been diverted from their intended routine shore leave at Chefoo and ordered to Shanghai instead, to avoid any misunderstanding.

The lengthy report of the committee delayed consideration of the federation's stand on prohibition, also on the convention's programme for to-day.

Government the inadvisability of allowing group settlement of "foreigners" not only helped them to a quicker understanding of the new language, but also facilitated their Canadianization, she claimed.

Mrs. Heath of Lusk and Happy Valley presented her report as convener of publicity and national events, reviewing the work done by the various institutes under this heading.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS
Mrs. Kate Palmer's report as convener of the League of Nations was presented by Mrs. Brown. In response to a letter from the Vancouver branch of the Women's League for Peace and Freedom, the conference decided that institutes should be asked to submit a report on the subject of disarmament and suitable for playing in the Vancouver headquarters of the league during the week of the C.C. Hull will be part of a plan to educate public opinion in preparation for the disarmament conference in February next.

TABLET AT SOLARIUM
The conference endorsed the proposal of the Cobble Hill Women's Institute to place a tablet over the main entrance of the Solarium bearing the words: "Queen Alexandra's Solarium, opened March 1, 1927, in commemoration of the women's institute of the province in the interests of the people of B.C." The cost of the tablet will be borne by the institutes of the whole of Vancouver Island.

Chicago, Oct. 14.—The thirteenth bomb hurled at Chicago theatre involved in the controversy between the Motion Picture Operators' Union was exploded early to-day.

ENATOR BURNS FORESEES BETTER TIMES IN 1932

Canadian Press
Vancouver, Oct. 14.—On one of his recent visits to the Coast, Senator Burns of Calgary was in Vancouver today.

He expressed confidence Canada in general and the west in particular would pull through the present depression in fine shape. By the end of next year he believed a definite improvement would be noted. By that time he expected to see factory output slipping behind market demand, a resultant increase in labor in order to bring output up to the required scale.

One good feature of the depression, Senator Burns said, was that it was king people think. On all sides, he said, it was obvious people were thinking of public questions and economic conditions as they never thought before. He believed this was a good sign. Senator Burns arrived here yesterday morning.

SAYS ALIMONY CAUSES CRIME

N.Y. Criminologist Says Alimony Often "Comparable to Legalized Prostitution"

Associated Press
St. Petersburg, Fla., Oct. 14.—Dr. Carleton Simon, criminologist and former deputy chief police commissioner of New York, today told the International Association of Chiefs of Police here one of the fundamental causes of crime was traceable to divorce and its accompanying evil—alimony.

In some instances, he declared, alimony was comparable to legalized prostitution; the woman frequently seeking matrimony with the one idea that her marital relations would be of short duration and that the law would provide her with an income for life. He also condemned breach of promise suits.

Money could never compensate a moral woman and no honest woman desired the money of a man who did not want her, Dr. Simon added.

Reviewing the problem of juvenile delinquency in its connection with increased prevalence of crime, Dr. Simon said: "Nothing assumes greater proportions nor is of greater significance than deprivation of suitable parental guidance to a growing child."

"Separation of parents, either by death, voluntarily or by legal means," he said, "is the reason why most of the family circles are destroyed."

Speculation On Soviet and Japan

New York, Oct. 14.—The possibility of a secret Russo-Japanese agreement regarding Manchuria was suggested yesterday evening by H. V. Kaltenbach, former editor of The Brooklyn Eagle and lecturer on international affairs, in a radio address over WABC and the Columbia Broadcasting System.

"It seems strange in all this," he said regarding the Sino-Japanese dispute, "that Russia has voiced no opinion, made no official stand, inasmuch as Russia's interest in Manchuria has long been one of marked political importance. Her greatest silence seems to indicate some possible understanding between herself and Japan."

Unemployment Increases Crime In United States

Geneva, Oct. 14.—A statement that the growth of unemployment in the United States had been accompanied by an increase in crime was made today in the weekly publication of the International Labor Office.

"Similar phenomena have ceased to appear in countries where adequate and regular payments are made to workers involuntarily unemployed," it was said.

The publication predicted a winter of "very great hardships for the unemployed," because more and more people are becoming pauperized.

FAIR PLAY FOR CHINA

Toronto, Oct. 14.—Fair play for China in its present hour of trial is urged in a statement issued by the local Chinese Student Christian Association yesterday evening. Local supporters of the Nanking Government expressed their readiness to return to China, if necessary, to fight for their country.

EFFORTS TO END STRIKE OF 22,000

Boston, Mass., Oct. 14.—Governor Joseph B. Ely today stepped cautiously into the role of peacemaker and gave personal attention to the strike situation in Lawrence, where 22,000 textile workers are idle in protest against a 10 per cent wage reduction.

Governor Ely, who assured sixty representatives of the Lawrence strikers yesterday that he was anxious to help, but did not want to "make it any harder for the workers after a long conference with the state board of arbitration and conciliation, told him they were willing to return to work at their old wages while the governor attempted to arbitrate the dispute.

VATICAN AWAITS SPANISH CHANGES

Vatican City, Oct. 14.—News of the rejection of Roman Catholicism as the official religion of Spain was received by Vatican officials today with disappointment but without alarm.

They were of the opinion that when religious conditions there have been straightened out, the position of the church will be found to be not seriously damaged.

RELIEF AUDIT

Vancouver, Oct. 14.—External auditors will survey the administration of the Vancouver relief department. The city council's decision was arrived at yesterday on the passing of a resolution recommended by Alderman George C. Miller and seconded by Alderman H. J. de Graves. Alderman Miller declared the recommendations made by the external auditors after the last investigation had not been carried out.

HOSPITAL AID URGED

Montreal, Oct. 14.—Leaving a request that friends who might wish to send flowers to his funeral send instead cheques to the Montreal General Hospital, Charles Thomas Hare, sixty-four, Montreal insurance broker, died yesterday.

SAFETY CONGRESS HEARS ADVICE

Chicago, Oct. 14.—Dr. Harold S. Hulbert, Chicago psychiatrist, told the National Safety Congress yesterday that "95 per cent of all accidents are due to man failure."

"Thinking of safety in the presence of danger," the psychiatrist said, "is not so important as clear thinking at work and avoiding the diversion of attention to personal problems."

This "man failure," Dr. Hulbert pointed out, was not one of insanity or continuous mental incompetency, but thoughtlessness and carelessness.

"Avoid unhappiness in your work," he said. "It produces fatigue and fatigue contributes toward inaccuracy and accidents."

Marvin A. Reid, a personnel director, of Detroit, told the congress industrial management must lead the way in accident prevention work.

"Management must teach the employees to think, talk and—greatest of all—to act safely," he said. "In this lies the root of accident prevention."

FERGUSON IS OPTIMISTIC ON THE EMPIRE

Toronto, Oct. 14.—Confidence in the return of prosperity to Great Britain and Canada is voiced by Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, Canadian High Commissioner in London. Concluding a two-months' holiday in the Dominion, he declared both countries would soon forge ahead as leaders in the political and economic life of the world.

Intra-Empire trade was far from being a side-tracked issue, Mr. Ferguson said. He foresaw increased attention to the question in Great Britain in the near future. He declined to discuss the political situation in Britain, but he said he had not the slightest doubt as to the effect of the election there on the future of Empire trade.

Mr. and Mrs. Ferguson left here yesterday evening for Quebec, where they were scheduled to embark to-day for Montreal.

BETTER OFF THAN OTHERS

"All Canada—and Canadians, of course, are having a difficult time, and the two months we have spent here have impressed us with the seriousness of the situation," Mr. Ferguson said, "but in the midst of our own troubles, I think we are perhaps prone to forget the outside world and our position in comparison with other countries. Canadians are fortunate to be in such splendid condition, to be able to care for themselves until general world conditions improve. And when that happens, I have not the slightest doubt we shall go ahead very rapidly, more rapidly than any other section of the world."

"The adjourned Imperial Conference, I feel confident, will be fruitful of results advantageous to Canada and other parts of the Empire. There is an increasingly strong feeling in Great Britain in favor of intra-Empire trade relations."

ARREST FOLLOWS SHOOTING

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 14.—Donald Holliday, aged twenty-one, said by police to be the son of a magazine publisher, was arrested here yesterday evening, two hours after Ernest L. Spohn, Pasadena gasoline station owner, had been shot through both lungs by a robber.

Official said Holliday admitted the shooting. Spohn was shot when he disobeyed the robber's command to raise his hands. Holliday was traced to Los Angeles garage by the license number of his rented automobile. Surgeons said Spohn had only a slight chance to recover.

LEADING KENORA CITIZEN DIES

Kenora, Ont., Oct. 14.—Lieut.-Col. Harold A. C. Machin, former member of the Ontario Legislature and veteran of the South African War and the Great War, died here yesterday. A prominent lawyer, Col. Machin represented the Kenora district in the Legislature from 1908 to 1919. In 1925 he was an unsuccessful candidate for the House of Commons.

At the outbreak of the Great War Col. Machin organized the 94th Battalion and commanded it on its journey overseas, serving for a time in France. He later returned to Canada as a registrar under the Military Service Act and at the end of the war resumed his law practice at Kenora. He was actively interested in mining in the Lake of the Woods district.

He was born at Rochester, N.Y., in 1875 and educated in England and in law at Osgoode Hall, Toronto. He is survived by a widow, and two daughters, Mrs. Thayer Lindsey of Toronto and Miss Barbara, at home.

New Device To Measure Electrons

Rome, Oct. 14.—Invention of a microscope for observing and measuring the velocity of the infinitesimal electrons was announced to-day by Prof. Robert A. Millikan of Nobel Prize fame, at the meeting here of fifty world-famous physicists.

How scientists detect the antics of the nuclei of atoms also was demonstrated.

The instrument announced by the California scientist consists of an X-ray microscope, which he termed a multiple crystal spectrometer. He credited its invention to Professor Jesse Dumond and Harry Kirkpatrick of the California Institute of Technology, Pasadena.

Dr. Millikan projected photographs made with the machine and described its invention as giving the first evidence of the inner workings of the dynamic, instead of the static atom.

The apparatus consists of fifty spectroscopes arranged in an arc, along which sweeps an X-ray. The photographs show the activities of two electrons in beryllium, a hard solid white metallic element.

The electron is approximately 1,700 times smaller than the atom, yet the invention caught it in action.

ELECTED TO U.S. CONGRESS
Racine, Wis., Oct. 14.—A former non-partisan League organizer, Thomas Ramble, Progressive Republican, was elected to Congress yesterday from the first Wisconsin district to fill the unexpired term of the late Representative Henry Allen Cooper.

BENNETT SEES BETTER TIMES FOR CANADA

Premier Speaks at New York Canadian Club Event

By THOMAS GREEN, Canadian Press Staff Writer

New York, Oct. 14.—Premier Bennett, speaking at the opening of the new home of the Canadian Club of New York yesterday evening, emphasized Canada's belief in her own destiny.

"Canada has an immense and unconquerable belief in herself," Mr. Bennett declared, and with his remarks wholehearted applause broke forth from his audience. "We have the faith that accepts good times as our natural due and bad times as only an interlude between past prosperity and the still greater prosperity that is to come. I suppose we were born that way, and all the forces of world distress are powerless to change us. That does not mean Canadians are vainglorious, reckless or prodigal, for they are not."

"In any kind of life thrift and economy are virtues. In our pioneering lives, they are veritable necessities. Nor does it mean Canadians are confused between the facts as they are and as they would have them. We face whatever situation may arise with the knowledge that however bad it may be, hard work by all our people, courage and every kind of life, life and intelligent co-operation among the elements which compose the nation, cannot fail to better our position."

MANY LEADING MEN THERE
The Prime Minister faced distinguished fellow-Canadians prominent in the professions and business life of the United States.

"I am not here to-night to discuss the state of affairs in Canada," Premier Bennett stated. "I am here for the purpose, the very happy purpose of meeting old friends whom the turn of events which carry us hither and thither has too long separated from me."

"Our trade reports, our bank statements, our revenues, our expenditures are published and made available to all. They tell the story of our progress in these troubled times; that, and the fact that our great institutions built on the foundations we long ago determined to be sound stand unshaken in this economic convulsion which has rocked the world."

PRAIRES WILL RECOVER
"You all know that and the reason as well why, though we have problems, however serious, have no employment, though nature this year has been unkind to our western wheat areas, our problems are less acute than those of other countries, our unemployment situation, though serious, is controllable and the major calamity in our west is one from which we can forecast an early recovery."

"Conscious as we are of the gravity of world conditions, believing as all sane men must that they cannot be allowed away, we yet know that the forces which built us into a nation will carry us forward to a greater era of prosperity," he concluded.

MAJOR WALKER SPEAKS

Major James J. Walker, who spoke following the Canadian Premier, said Canada had required a protective tariff for her own self-protection, and that he would not think much of Canada if it had lain down and rolled over.

"God bless them for the courage they have," he continued. "If they bring out a solution, I am for them. In paying his respects to Mr. Bennett, Major Walker, who arrived late as usual, said: "He is very unkind of his great office. It is nice to look at men who are successful. That is why I never look in my mirror."

ITALIAN PAPER SCORES CANADA'S TARIFF SCHEME

Canadian Press
Rome, Oct. 14.—Displeasure in Italy at the decision of the Canadian government to apply anti-dumping tariff provisions against imports from countries whose currency has depreciated on foreign exchange markets was reflected in an editorial which appeared in The Giornale d'Italia yesterday.

It was unfair, the newspaper said, to apply anti-dumping provisions against Italian imports, as the lira still remained on the gold standard, and any oscillation in its rate of exchange would be of short duration.

Reinforcing its argument with statistics, the newspaper said that during the last three years the value of Canadian goods imported by Italy had been greatly in excess of the value of Italian merchandise imported into Canada.

FIGURES COMPARED
Ottawa, Oct. 14.—Canada's imports from Italy for the first three months of the current fiscal year—the last period for which figures are available—had a value of $919,576, while exports from Canada to Italy were valued at $2,387,760.

For the same period in the last fiscal year Canada sold to Italy goods valued at $1,818,484, as compared with purchases from that country which had a value of $1,285,591.

NEW HALL IS GREAT ASSET TO SHAWNIGAN

Opening Ceremony Was Performed By C. H. Dickie, M.P.; Centre of Community Life

Special to The Times
Shawnigan Lake, Oct. 14.—The new hall erected by the Shawnigan Lake Athletic Association to replace the old one destroyed by fire was officially opened Saturday evening.

C. H. Dickie, federal member for the district, performed the ceremony and accompanying him was Mrs. Dickie, who was presented with a bouquet of flowers by the ladies of the committee.

After making a tour of the building, Mr. and Mrs. Dickie were escorted to the stage in company with S. J. Heald, president; F. T. Elford, vice-president; Mrs. F. T. Elford, Mrs. A. I. Dyson and Mrs. P. M. Gannon. The president introduced Mr. Dickie to the 250 assembled guests.

In a happy little speech Mr. Dickie recalled the many pleasing events that have taken place in the old hall. He complimented the directors for their unselfish work, and stated that in his opinion the new hall was second to none on the Island. It was admirably planned, well constructed, and was a standing monument to what could be accomplished with united effort. He urged the district to rally around the management and make it a true centre of community life and effort.

Following the formal opening a dance took place to music supplied by a five-piece orchestra.

The hall is equipped with every modern convenience, and is a third larger than the old hall.

E. E. Hawking and P. T. Elford acted as masters of ceremonies. The supper and arrangements were in the hands of Mrs. A. Kinsley and a group of Shawnigan ladies. They transformed the dining-room into a bower of autumn foliage and flowers, and served a dainty supper.

Those attending came from all parts of the district and also Victoria.

EXTENDING THE BARBED WIRE HAND

"KEEPING THE BRITISH IN PLACE" and "the helping hand that Canada extends to Britain in these days of anxiety in the Old Country" are sample quotations from the eastern Canadian press reflecting the tone of the reception accorded Premier Bennett's latest move in placing the unfriendly anti-dumping duties on imports of British goods into Canada.

The extent to which the burden on the importer of British goods has been raised by the recent orders-in-council, since Britain suspended the gold standard, is illustrated by considering the Canadian tariff charges on a shipment from London to Victoria of an order of £100 worth of fixtures, on which there is a regular duty of twenty per cent, less two per cent under the British preference. The comparison of the normal tariff charges with the new anti-dumping scale is as follows:

	Before new regulations	Under new regulations
Invoice value	$430.00	$430.00
Value for duty	($430.00)	($430.00)
Regular duty	77.40	87.56
Special duty		57.00
Sales tax	5.07	5.74
Cost to importer	$512.47	$580.40

On an invoice for ten bales of wool from Britain, ordinarily duty free into Canada, valued at £100 on a date when the pound sterling was quoted at $4.30 in Canada, the Canadian importer, according to the actual figures of customs brokers, was called upon to pay on this basis:

Cost of goods, £100	$430.00
Duty value of goods	487
Regular duty	Free
Special duty	857
Sales tax	$4.87
Total cost	$981.87 instead of $434.30.

The increased cost in these two instances works out at $67.93 and $57.57 respectively. This averages an increase of around fifteen per cent, which effectively wipes out the statutory advantages of the British preference.

Mr. Bennett has made it emphatically apparent that he is going "to stand no nonsense," as one critic puts it, on the part of British traders. To the delight of powerful sections of his party, he has manhandled the British preference so that there is nothing that can be recognized of it left.

A "BLUE CHIP" INVESTMENT

ANNOUNCEMENT OF THE LIST OF
2,158 hospitals in Canada and the United States, which the American College of Surgeons at its recent clinical congress in New York designated as approved, should serve to remind us that these institutions are one of this continent's greatest assets. Although it is true that the actual investment in hospitals is over $4,000,000,000, its value lies not simply in land, buildings and equipment. The fact is that every approved hospital pays actual cash dividends to its community.

It is a recognized fact that since hospital standardization was put into effect in 1918 with the first annual survey of such institutions by the American College of Surgeons, the average death rate in approved hospitals has dropped more than fifty per cent, and mortalities from surgical operations are only about one-fourth what they were at that time. The average time that patients must stay in hospitals has also been reduced by half. Where fifteen years ago a patient being treated for appendicitis had to spend twenty-five to thirty days in the hospital, now he spends, on the average, only ten days for exactly the same type of case. All this has meant thousands of lives saved that would otherwise have been lost, the earning power of many families increased, countless hours of productive time restored to industry.

Consider simply the return on lives saved that would otherwise be lost through inefficient surgery, careless nursing, and poor management. An approved hospital of 200 beds, for instance, will annually care for about 5,000 patients, whose total maintenance cost will average $300,000. If this hospital saves from this number only ten per cent who would have died but for the better care given, it would mean a saving of 500 lives. Actuaries estimate the value of a human life at $5,000. At this rate the net return to the community from one approved hospital alone on but one item would be $2,500,000. And this capitalizes only a single phase of hospital service. We have not yet evaluated the saving to industry, the reduction in number of public dependents, the increase in family incomes, not to mention that which is above price—the suffering alleviated. Where is the industry that can match these dividends.

TRADE WITH BRAZIL

THERE IS PROSPECT OF FURTHER
increased trade relations between Canada and Brazil. Under the existing arrangements business between the two countries has increased in recent years, the rise of Canadian exports being larger than that of imports from Brazil.

Trade has been carried on intermittently between Canada and Brazil ever since Confederation. The earliest entry in Canadian trade returns shows exports of Canadian products to Brazil to the value of $42,141 in 1866. The next entry gives Canadian imports from Brazil of $8,504 in 1870. In the '80's trade was established on a regular basis, Canadian imports from Brazil being more than double Canadian exports to that country. In 1882 imports were valued at $1,328,316 and exports at $492,785.

At times during the next two decades, Canadian exports exceeded imports from Brazil, but at the time war broke out Canadian imports from Brazil were considerably greater than exports of Canadian products. After the war, however, the Canadian export trade increased rapidly, and since 1919 exports have consistently exceeded imports. In 1930, exports of Canadian products to Brazil were valued at $4,292,293 against imports of $1,687,707. In the fiscal year 1931, however, there was a sharp decline in exports to $2,799,567, while imports fell off slightly to $1,349,124.

CANADA'S LARGEST CITY

MONTREAL HOLDS TO ITS HABIT OF
adding to its population at the rate of about 20,000 persons a year. The recently completed Dominion census figures give the city this year a population of 810,925, which represents an increase of 192,419 over the total returned in the 1921 census.

Since the beginning of the century, Montreal's growth has averaged 200,000, or better, in each decennial period. In 1901 the census showed a population of 289,151. In 1911 it stood at 530,891, an increase of 241,740. In 1921 it was 618,506, an increase of 87,715. The central wards have long since reached a density of settlement, but modern transportation facilities have made accessible an ever-widening suburban area. It is in this outlying area that the gain, year by year in an increasing proportion, manifests itself.

From the time of its founding in 1642 by Maisonneuve as a mission outpost, it took the Canadian metropolis 250 years to reach the 200,000 mark. Since then, by that momentum which all the world's chief centres seem to develop after they attain a certain size, Montreal has been carried forward at a constant rate of progression, its very size apparently attracting further growth.

A STRANGE ARGUMENT

IT IS BEING SUGGESTED THAT IF
Premier Laval can obtain from President Hoover an assurance that the United States will pare down its bill against the debtor nations, say, by fifty per cent, he will recommend that all the countries thus relieved reduce their war budgets by twenty-five per cent.

In the last fiscal year the nations of the world spent approximately $4,200,000,000 on arms, the United States heading the list with $707,500,000, Russia second with $579,000,000, France third with $467,000,000, Britain fourth with $465,000,000, Italy fifth with $249,000,000, and Japan sixth with $237,000,000. All these nations, of course, are spending very considerably more on armaments now than they were before the Great War, despite the fact that the peoples of the world were assured that the conflict was a war to end war.

At this juncture, with a League of Nations, with the Kellogg peace pact, and various other agreements between nations which rule out fighting as a means of settling disputes, a suggestion that the world spend $3,000,000,000 instead of $4,000,000,000 a year in preparation for war—or at least as much as went for arms before the war—is hardly the sort of proposal one would expect to be made.

If the members of the League of Nations and the signatories of the undertaking which renounces war as an instrument of national policy are sincere in their professions, what reasons exist for a state of naval and military preparedness that is more costly than it was in 1914? The attitude of some nations will have to change materially if next year's disarmament conference is to produce effective relief to a war-weary and tax-weary world.

Ottawa is now going in for pristine efficiency and economy in its civic administration. To further this move, a plebiscite on halving the size of the city council is proposed for the annual December elections. That it would work out at least in the interests of economy cannot be doubted when we learn the present size of the Ottawa city council. It consists of a mayor, board of control and twenty-two aldermen. Out here that sounds almost large enough to constitute a cabinet and a whole provincial Legislature.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

AN IMPOSSIBLE PLAN
The Boston Transcript

In common sense the Farm Board's plea for destruction of a third of the cotton crop is an absurdity, and it is as such that the common sense of the nation has taken it. Among leaders in the south, no less than among the business men and the general public of Boston, the proposal is considered ridiculous to the nth degree.

SPORTSMANSHIP
The San Francisco Chronicle

Speaking of sportsmanship, here is one for the book from the ascent of Mt. Kamet, the highest mountain ever climbed, conquered a short time ago by the British expedition led by Frank S. Smythe.

The expedition counted itself fortunate in hiring for a mountain tribesman named Lewa, a notable man withal, who had proved his metal on the Kanchoenjunga and other expeditions. And it was fortunate, for Lewa's energy, courage and loyalty was a large factor in the victory over Kamet. The expedition did not forget.

Lewa was one of the final climbers who vanquished the peak. When all the difficulties were passed and only a few yards remained to the highest point, the Englishmen stepped to one side. The poor native porter was given the honor of being first of mankind to stand on the summit of a 25,000-foot peak.

NO CURTAILMENT
The Border Cities Star

The United States Farm Board's suggestion that one-third of its cotton crop be destroyed is not being received with very good grace by the farmers of the South.

It is an iniquitous idea. To destroy a necessity of life which nature has so bountifully bestowed on mankind is appalling even to think of, and no wonder every man interested in this commodity is raising his voice against such a move. Who is to say that within a year every pound of cotton raised will not be needed? It would be a wise man who could make such a prediction.

This suggestion is along the lines of asking our own farmers not to raise as much wheat as they can conveniently handle. There may be an entire crop failure all over the world in the next year or two. What would happen in a case of that kind? What is needed is not a curtailment of crop sowing, but a world wheat pool that would handle and distribute the crop properly and see that the farmer got a living price for his product.

By H. B. W.

ASK YOU to believe that my usual reading does not consist of movie magazines. My mind, I assure you, is on higher things. When I sit down before the fire on an evening for a little relaxation invariably I turn to something important, like Dorothy Dix, the Gumps or the debates of the House of Commons. But it happened the other day, through no fault of mine, that I found myself with some friends of the lower sort in a cabin up at our lake, and as it was raining hard we could do as sit before the fire and read. And all there was to read, these friends being especially low, were some movie magazines.

I READ THEM, not because they interested me in themselves, but because I found in them a most staggering reflection of American civilization. So far as I could find more than 90 per cent of the average movie magazine was devoted to a frank and open discussion of the movie stars' most intimate domestic affairs. There was a long article to prove that one great Hollywood actress was really married to a great Hollywood actor, and that their public association, therefore, was quite honorable. Another article discussed at length and with some fervor the important question whether a famous foreign star, after having tried and rejected half a dozen husbands, was about to return to the first one. Other articles explained—usually with a sly leek—why So-and-So was about to divorce So-and-So and announced whom they would both marry as soon as the law would allow, though why they bothered about a small matter like the law I cannot imagine.

ANYWAY, this point is that the movie magazines, with huge circulations, must interest millions of people. Millions eagerly read this thinly-disguised pornography, which gets by because it relates exclusively to movie people. If it related to anyone else the writers would be sued or shot. Thus in America, and that includes Canada, we have created a curious aristocracy down in Hollywood, the most remarkable aristocracy of all the ages, which, apparently, is worshipped and doted upon and read more eagerly than the little tin-pot royalties of southeastern Europe. To this American aristocracy, as to the European, no ordinary morals seem to apply, no conventions and no public decency, whatever. This is hard on the large number of hard-working decent people who must be engaged in the movie industry but who are overshadowed by the glamour of the great ones. It just confirms what I have always contended, that, except for automobiles with radios in them, we are little ahead intellectually of the peasantry of China. The only fundamental difference is that they practice polygamy in a dull, respectable fashion, America, or a large part of it, worships glided polygamy and emulates polygamists from afar.

every autumn and perish, quite content, when they have laid their eggs.

IN ECONOMICS we are willing that millions may be hopelessly poor and near destitution. We are willing that specially privileged corporations shall fatten under tariffs and governmental protection. We are willing that consumers shall be exploited at every turn. We are even willing, as has been the case in this country and in the United States of late, to disregard the basic laws of economics and trade. We are willing to lock people up who disagree with us on such matters. We are willing to do all these wrong things in order to accomplish the greater, overshadowing purpose of maintaining our economic system, because we honestly believe it, imperfect as it is, to be superior to other systems. Just as in a still larger sphere we are quite willing to be killed, in any cause whatever, so long as we think we are serving the larger purpose of maintaining our country. And, unless the instincts of the family, of the tribe, of the nation have misled us from the beginning, we are probably right. Still, despite all this, or rather because of it, one finds it altogether charming that, in the United States, the end does not justify the means, that it is not admissible to do a great right by doing a little wrong—or are still refusing to admit the facts of life, are still uttering thundering platitudes from the mountain tops.

WAGES IN THE UNITED STATES
To the Editor—"How can a social order stand where a bricklayer gets $16.00 a day, while a laborer and a telephone messenger get only $4.00 and $2.00, respectively. I was asking myself a few years ago.

The present situation proves too well that it cannot. Therefore, it would be high time that the American Federation of Labor moved out of its slogan, "maintain the existing wage standard," which in so far as it tends to create the impression that during the so-called "prosperity" of the 30,000,000 workers of the United States have been enjoying decent wages and number of working hours, while the truth is that they have seen the case only of a minority of them.

The federation should demand first a living wage and the eight-hour day for all workers. All of them. For the federation must not forget that in the same way that there can be no real prosperity in the United States if the rest of the world is in distress, there can be no prosperity among the 3,000,000 members of the federation if most of the remaining 47,000,000 American wage and salary earners have no adequate buying power.

Wage-cutters have been the public enemies in general. Yet, rather than the employers compelled now to slightly reduce fair wages, the public enemies that should be pointed out are the employers that are and have been paying and cutting starvation wages, even in the booming period to force profits to the sky.

"ONLY GOD CAN MAKE A TREE"

To the Editor—"In taking a walk through the beautiful city of Victoria, yesterday, in passing through Burdett Street I saw what would be considered a rare sight this side of England in the shape of two fine old oaks, one standing outside the curb projecting well into the road, the other standing directly in the centre of the sidewalk, so much so that in putting down the concrete walk it was necessary to make a hole in order to pass the tree. I should like very much to have the pleasure of meeting the man who was instrumental in saving these two oaks, and the God's handiwork, for "only God can make a tree."

I was so impressed with the intelligence, and foresight, and appreciation shown of the value and beauty of one of Nature's most wonderful and necessary gifts that I have ordered photographs made of these living monuments to common sense, the sense of impressing upon all highway departments throughout Canada how roadside trees can and should be saved.

I would like to add in connection with these two trees that some public benefactor took such pains to save that there are a few small dead branches that should be very carefully trimmed and the stub ends painted and thereby added to the life and beauty of these trees, and if the proper authority will have this done at once and send the bill to me to New York Building, Montreal, I shall be only too happy to be allowed to pay the cost of the work.

In noting the care that had been taken to save these two waste ornaments my thoughts naturally reverted to the hideous slaughter that is now proceeding with unabated ferocity in connection with the road widening through Cameron Lake forest (the last tract of virgin timber on the Vancouver Island Highway) and on the Goldstream flats on the Malahat road and almost every other road that is being widened, in nearly all cases beyond all reason. These trees that have been growing in many instances for centuries, are being destroyed with as much apparent satisfaction as if they were an enemy that must be wiped off the face of the earth as quickly as possible, instead of being one of God's greatest gifts to man next to the salvation so freely offered to all.

In California they are now planting roadside trees at a cost of $2.50 per tree even through desert stretches where they have to lay water pipes in order to water the trees; in one case at least these pipes had to be laid for a distance of twenty miles, while we are engaged in spending large sums of money in destroying these bountiful gifts of God, and I ask in all sincerity could anything be more wicked and imbecile than this?

A DEATH-TRAP

To the Editor—"As one who rides from time to time, may I draw the attention of the powers that be to the most dangerous place for motor and horse traffic in Victoria. I refer to the gate out of the Willows on to the Cadboro Bay Road. Motors coming from the north or Uplands end of the Cadboro Bay Road have no warning notice, and coming down what appears to be a good running road, pass the Willows gate often at a pace far removed from safety, and as the Oak Bay police are seldom there to watch what is taking place, the pace of motors passing the gates has become a menace to all concerned. Owing to a very high board fence at the Willows gate it is impossible for a rider to see if there is a car coming and it is only a matter of time before there is a very serious accident there.

Anyone coming out of the Willows on a fresh horse has a small chance of avoiding an accident should he meet a car coming at any pace, and children riding quiet and steady horses are quite likely to walk their mounts right into a car.

This is no frivolous complaint but a really serious protest.

In noting the care that had been taken to save these two waste ornaments my thoughts naturally reverted to the hideous slaughter that is now proceeding with unabated ferocity in connection with the road widening through Cameron Lake forest (the last tract of virgin timber on the Vancouver Island Highway) and on the Goldstream flats on the Malahat road and almost every other road that is being widened, in nearly all cases beyond all reason. These trees that have been growing in many instances for centuries, are being destroyed with as much apparent satisfaction as if they were an enemy that must be wiped off the face of the earth as quickly as possible, instead of being one of God's greatest gifts to man next to the salvation so freely offered to all.

A DEATH-TRAP

To the Editor—"As one who rides from time to time, may I draw the attention of the powers that be to the most dangerous place for motor and horse traffic in Victoria. I refer to the gate out of the Willows on to the Cadboro Bay Road. Motors coming from the north or Uplands end of the Cadboro Bay Road have no warning notice, and coming down what appears to be a good running road, pass the Willows gate often at a pace far removed from safety, and as the Oak Bay police are seldom there to watch what is taking place, the pace of motors passing the gates has become a menace to all concerned. Owing to a very high board fence at the Willows gate it is impossible for a rider to see if there is a car coming and it is only a matter of time before there is a very serious accident there.

Anyone coming out of the Willows on a fresh horse has a small chance of avoiding an accident should he meet a car coming at any pace, and children riding quiet and steady horses are quite likely to walk their mounts right into a car.

This is no frivolous complaint but a really serious protest.

WAGES IN THE UNITED STATES

To the Editor—"How can a social order stand where a bricklayer gets $16.00 a day, while a laborer and a telephone messenger get only $4.00 and $2.00, respectively. I was asking myself a few years ago.

The present situation proves too well that it cannot. Therefore, it would be high time that the American Federation of Labor moved out of its slogan, "maintain the existing wage standard," which in so far as it tends to create the impression that during the so-called "prosperity" of the 30,000,000 workers of the United States have been enjoying decent wages and number of working hours, while the truth is that they have seen the case only of a minority of them.

The federation should demand first a living wage and the eight-hour day for all workers. All of them. For the federation must not forget that in the same way that there can be no real prosperity in the United States if the rest of the world is in distress, there can be no prosperity among the 3,000,000 members of the federation if most of the remaining 47,000,000 American wage and salary earners have no

WORKROOM IS AGAIN OPENED

Seventy-three Needy Women Employed; Lecture By Col. Fallis to Aid Fund

After being closed since Thursday last, the workroom for unemployed, needy women was reopened yesterday afternoon at the Y.W.C.A. Seventy-three women were provided with employment for the afternoon. Several of the more efficient seamstresses were set to work making children's coats and other garments, and as such work necessitates careful pressing, the committee appeals for the loan of two heavy electric irons suitable for pressing.
To raise the funds which are so essential if the work is to be carried on, the committee has arranged for a public lecture on "Will Great Britain Survive?" to be given by Col. the Rev. G. O. Fallis of Vancouver at the Royal Victoria Theatre on Thursday evening, October 22. Tickets for the lecture may be obtained of Miss M. A. Wigley, or other members of the committee, or at Fletcher's, Col. Fallis, who is a forceful dynamic speaker, has just returned from a sojourn in Europe and his observations should be of unusual interest at the present time.

CHILDREN'S AID POUND PARTY

Annual Appeal For Pandora Ave. Home Saturday; Generous Response Hoped

On Saturday the annual pound party of the Children's Aid Society will be held in the home, 1234 Pandora Avenue. The annual pound party gives a specially favorable opportunity to the interested public to visit this home and see for themselves the work being done by the society for the children who, for no reason of their own, are wards of the public.
During the whole afternoon the premises will be open for inspection and members of the board will gladly show visitors through the building or answer any inquiries in regard to the work.
In view of the unusually large number of children now in the home, it is hoped the pound party will receive the fullest possible support, as only such a response makes it possible for the society to be successful in the work it is trying to do.

Immigration Parts Children From Parents

Chehalis, Wash., Oct. 14.—A superior court here yesterday took on itself the task of finding homes for two little girls who have been separated from their parents and three older children by international immigration restrictions.
The girls, Dorothy Hiltz, ten, and her sister, Alberta, who have been cared for at a detention home in Seattle, were made wards of the court here by Judge W. A. Reynolds. They were denied admission in Canada with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Christopher Hiltz, now living there, on grounds that they were born in the United States.
The parents came to this country from Canada eleven years ago on a visitor's permit. They were residing at Morton, near here, when they became destitute and sought relief from the county as indigents. Arrangements for their return to Canada were made last summer. But only their three older children were admitted with them.

V.O.N. Board Is Told of Maternity Institute Plan

Maternity institutes where nurses may take special instruction in prenatal work were described in an interesting talk given by Miss McCuaig, western supervisor of the Victorian Order of Nurses, at the monthly meeting of the local board yesterday afternoon.
Miss McCuaig, who is here on her annual inspection trip, praised the local branch of the order for the work which it was accomplishing. After an inspection tour which embraced all the western branches of the organization, she saw a certain parallel in conditions here to those elsewhere, viz., that all were doing a greater amount of free work than previously, many people who had hitherto been able to pay for their own hospitalization now being forced to use the free services available through the V.O.N. This, naturally, demanded better finances.
Miss McCuaig brought the first direct report of the annual meeting of the order held at Ottawa last May, and this proved very interesting to the members. She was warmly thanked by the president, Mrs. Harry Lawson.
The meeting voted the proceeds of the recent rummage sale towards the purchase of a new car for the V.O.N. nurses.

Canadian Daughters' League—The regular monthly meeting of Assembly No. 5, Canadian Daughters' League, will be held in the Shrine Temple tomorrow evening when Miss Lottie Bowron, teachers' welfare worker, will address the assembly. Group No. 2, under the patronage of Mrs. R. H. McInnes, and the educational committee, under Mrs. Ross, will take charge of the social programme.
Rich Dessert
A rich, but thoroughly satisfying pie is made by filling a pie shell with chopped dates and a meringue made of two egg whites and two tablespoons of powdered sugar, and browning it in a slow oven.

AGNES MACPHAIL TO SPEAK HERE

Noted M.P. to Address Women's Canadian Club Nov. 6 on Disarmament

Miss Agnes MacPhail, M.P., will address the Women's Canadian Club on Friday, November 6, on the subject of "Disarmament." This interesting announcement was made at yesterday's meeting of the club, when Professor B. K. Sandwell gave an enlightening address on unemployment insurance.

Reno "Mill" Turns Out Ninety-two Divorces In Day

Reno, Nev., Oct. 14.—Geared to a speed it had not reached in several weeks, the Reno "mill" yesterday ground out ninety-two divorces, and because of the heavy filing probably will turn out half as many more today.
Baroness Rachel Warrington Rosenkrantz of Cincinnati and Brookings, charged non-support in obtaining a divorce from Baron Iver Holger Rosenkrantz.
New complaints filed included that of Mrs. Bayone Whipple Huston against Walter Huston, featured player with Warner Brothers. Mrs. Huston charged the film star deserted her five years ago.

Says Theatre Has Survived Over Two Thousand Years

Toronto, Oct. 14.—The artistic link between the nations was both far-reaching and solid, declared Sir Harry Jackson, director of the Birmingham Repertory Theatre, England, addressing the Women's Canadian Club here yesterday. He contrasted economic and political uncertainty in international relations with the development of literary and artistic connections.
The theatre had survived the rise and fall of governments and the rise and fall of nations for 2,000 years. Explaining his offering of six British plays in Canada this season, Sir Barry said he had selected some of England's older work with the idea it might be acceptable to a new country which was interested in building its own theatre with the knowledge of past traditions and achievements.

PRETTY WEDDING AT NANAIMO

Miss Lavina Hickman Becomes Bride of Wm. F. Barker

Nanaimo, Oct. 14.—Beneath a cluster of bridal bells suspended from an arch of autumn foliage banked with baskets of cut flowers, the marriage was solemnized at the bride's home, Kennedy Street, of Lavina, daughter of Mr. A. Hickman, pioneer resident of Nanaimo, and the late Mrs. Hickman, and William F. Barker of this city, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. Barker of Harrow, England, Rev. W. R. Welch officiated.

Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

A mother seldom gets to know her baby while she is in the hospital. At nursing times it is brought to her, yawning and placid, and she is unaware of its red-faced contortions and monotonous wails at other moments in the day. "It's the best baby!" everyone says, admiringly, and she accepts that opinion unquestioningly.

In her first week at home the mother makes the acquaintance of another baby. This baby sleeps with hardly a murmur all day long but wakes at two or three o'clock at night ready for a good long playtime—at least, it seems good and long to young parents though by the clock it may measure only an hour or more.

Having been told that they mustn't accustom the baby to attention lest he demand it with increasing disregard for their comfort, having assured themselves that he is dry and comfortable and all the things babies are supposed to be in order to fall asleep, the two young parents lie with necks rigid and self to sleep. Whatever is wrong with the baby is not their business.

Occasional lapses all right. The routine should be outlined. It should be followed as consistently as possible. Then if baby wakes and wants to play or persists in yelling, despite necessary attention to his physical needs, take care of him. Don't feel that he is disturbing you. He is not. He is only a baby.

Obviously no such procedures should be countenanced after six weeks. By this time baby should be well accustomed to his new home. His mother should be fairly familiar with the daily schedule and no longer nervous about carrying it out. Her own milk supply will have been established, or else the baby will have become accustomed to some artificial feeding which will cause no more digestive writhings at inopportune hours of the day or night.

Sharkey Proving "Rubber Man" of Heavyweight Division

Has Bounded Back as Leading Contender of Max's Crown

General Feeling is That Dempsey Will Meet German Champ

Mistake to Figure Max Will Fight in Way to Suit Jack

IN THE boxing world Johnny Risko has always been familiarly known as the "Rubber Man," due solely to his ability to take plenty of punishment and still come back. Now they should start and call Jack Sharkey the "Rubber Man" of the heavyweight division. Not only for his ability to take punishment and come back but for the uncanny way he has of returning as one of the leading contenders after apparently having been disposed of once and for all. The former Boston Gob has again pushed himself to the front by stepping into the ring at Brooklyn on Monday night and knocking the title aspirations of one, Primo Carnara, higher than a kite. And Carnara was rated the leading contender for Max Schmeling's world heavyweight title. So if that is the case Sharkey must now occupy that position.

But now comes the strangest part of it all. Only a few weeks ago Sharkey engaged in a bout with Mickey Walker, former middleweight champion, and the best he could get out of it was a questionable draw. Walker, although he gave away considerable weight, stood up to Sharkey and traded him punch for punch and the crowd boomed the decision, figuring Walker should have received the verdict. That fight figured to put Sharkey on the shelf but now he comes back and spots Carnara over fifty pounds and hands him one of the best beatings he has ever given. He not only beats him but knocks him down as early as the fourth round and has him in a foggy condition at the fifth. Try and figure it out. The only explanation is the fact that Sharkey has always been known as an in-and-outter. As Walker was able to draw with Sharkey the former middleweight champion figures to beat Carnara, although he would have to give away about 100 pounds.

Now with the prospects of getting another chance to win the heavyweight title it is interesting to speculate just what kind of a showing Sharkey will make. Apparently favored by the New York State Athletic Commission, and pet of William Muldoon, chairman of that body, Sharkey has received more championship offers than any other heavyweight. He met Dempsey, with the winner to meet champion Gene Tunney and, after trying to claim the fight as a foul, was knocked out. After that, Dempsey declared he had been fouled by Sharkey. That was back in 1927. In 1928 he lost a fifteen-round decision to Risko, after being an odds-on favorite. In February 1929 he met Young Stripling at Miami in the first battle of the palms and won the decision after a mauling affair that showed both fighters at their best. Sharkey pulled himself together and showed up well to score a technical knockout over Tommy Loughran in September, 1929. In 1930 he met Phil Scott at Miami in the second battle of the palms and won by a technical knockout in the third round after Scott had claimed a foul. It was stated by several prominent experts that Sharkey landed a foul blow and should have lost the fight. And then in June, 1930, Sharkey was matched with Schmeling for the world title and blew his chances by fouling the German in the fourth round. Now he is knocking at the door again.

There appears to be a general feeling among the fight fans that Dempsey will seek the heavyweight crown again, that his comeback will be successful, that he will get a chance at Schmeling. Reports from Europe show that Max himself believes this; believes that he will enter the ring in defense of his title against Dempsey. Many fans figure that Dempsey will find Schmeling's style made to order for him. They figure a fighter who boxes and fights the kind of fight that Jack, but that Schmeling will keep hitting and stepping in, which will suit Dempsey.

It must be remembered that the German is not dumb. Every fight he has won on his way to the championship has proved that he prepared himself with a good deal of forethought and careful study. He figured out what he must do to win, and was ready to do it. Against Paulino he developed a low crouch, which so confused the roundhouse-swinging Basque that he could not land any punches at all. While fighting Stripling he did not use the crouch at all. He fought a stand, persistently aggressive fight, in which he figured his condition, strength and punching power would win the fight. He was right. And it is certain if he fights Dempsey, Max is not going to waste in and fight the kind of fight easiest for Dempsey. He is going to watch Jack beforehand and plan a method of fighting best for Schmeling and worst for Dempsey.

Canadian Press

Newmarket, Eng., Oct. 14.—Carrying the top weight of 124 pounds over the grueling distance of two and a quarter miles, F. H. Cundell's good four-year-old Noble Star won the ninety-second running of the famous Cesarewitch Stakes this afternoon.

H. F. Clayton's Sixwheeler, carrying 107 pounds, was second and Jesse Brown's Son of Mint, carrying 108 pounds, was third.

Twenty-six long-distance races started. Noble Star started at odds of 100 to 6 against Sixwheeler at 100 to one and Son of Mint, 100 to seven. The winner finished a length and a half ahead of Sixwheeler, with the latter the same distance in front of Son of Mint.

The race was worth approximately $10,000.

WINNER IS A COLT. The winner is a bay colt by Hapsburg out of Jester. Sixwheeler is a six-year-old by Metrometer out of Valencia Bay, and Son of Mint is a four-year-old by Son-in-law, out of Lamb Mint.

Jockey Fred Fox, who won the two Thousand Guineas and the Derby on Cameronia, piloted Noble Star to the triumph. Baines had the mount on Sixwheeler and Cliff Richards rode Son of Mint.

REGULATIONS CHANGED FOR FORWARD PASS

Canadian Rugby Union Officials Make Several New Interpretations

Changes Will Seriously Affect Western Teams; No Deception on a Pass

Vancouver, Oct. 14.—Canadian Rugby Union rules commission has met and pondered upon the forward pass. New rules have been drawn up, new interpretations adopted and an eight-page pamphlet issued. Referees, coaches and players may piece together the wreckage of the rules as best they may. The rules commission does not meet again till February.

There are several changes in the forward pass rule that are going to cause anguish among western coaches, who have patiently built up an offensive game. They will have to start over again on their forward pass play.

The feature is that there may be no deception on a forward pass play. A new rule has been inserted which states that: "On any scrimmage from which a forward pass is thrown, no player of the attacking side shall, before the ball is snapped, move in such a way as to cause confusion as to whether or not such player is eligible to receive the pass."

PLAYER CANNOT SHIFT. Which means that linemen in particular will have to be very careful as to how and where they shift. The eligible men must, apparently, stay put till the ball is snapped. There is no hiding them for a time.

Other things have been changed, too. From now on, when a team makes a forward pass within the opponents' twenty-five-yard line, such pass must be caught by a member of the passers' side to be considered complete. If a player of the defending side catches the ball, it is incomplete and the play is dead.

No score will be given for an incomplete forward pass thrown from behind the passers' goal line. Formerly it was two points. Now it is just an incomplete pass and is penalized one down.

ONLY ONE PLAYER ALLOWED. In the rule book, a pass is considered complete if two players of the passers' side catch it simultaneously. That has been changed now, and such a pass will be called incomplete in the future.

The penalty for two successive incomplete passes has been made clearer. The rule book says re-scramble with loss of ten yards. The rules commission has decided that this means loss of ten yards and a down.

A few other rules have been cleared up somewhat, too. The boys have finally decided that their tandem buck rule was a bit hazy, and made it more definite. It means it was always intended to mean, that no more than two men of the attacking side may form together to advance the ball until they come in contact with their opponent's defence. And then such additional assistance may be given only by men on the line of scrimmage.

GAMES WON BY SAANICH TEAMS

The Saanich Athletic Club held the first basketball games of the season in the Agricultural Hall, Saanichton, Friday evening when three local teams were successful in defeating city hoop teams. The local girls had little trouble in winning from the last year's Orioles team, which trailed in a one-sided victory of 87 to 18 for the Saanich girls.

The Green Mill squad, last year's Fountain Service, could not keep up with the fast pace set by the Saanich Service "B" team and went down to defeat by the overwhelming score of 35 to 8. In the final game of the evening, Saanich Senior "B" team handed Slinger's cagers a 43 to 30 defeat.

Ron Smith's orchestra supplied the music for dancing which followed the games, and refreshments were served. The teams were as follows: Saanich Girls—Alice Styan, Ona Young, May Peden, Ann Chastworth, Nellie Aynes, Connie Johnson.

Victoria Girls—L. McMurich, M. Pelland, M. Wallace, B. Darby, M. Hanley, J. Finch.

LOCAL SOCCER TEAMS PLAY IN DOUBLE-HEADER

Two Games Scheduled at the Royal Athletic Park Saturday Afternoon

First division football teams will engage in a double-header at the Royal Athletic Park on Saturday afternoon. Commencing at 2.15 o'clock, Victoria City and Esquimalt will battle, to be followed by a match between the Saanich Thistles and Jokers. McMillan will handle the whistle in the opener with Bobb refereeing the second fixture.

With two straight victories the Jokers are out in front, followed closely by Esquimalt, last year's champions, with one win and a draw in their two matches. The Saanich Thistles are in third place with a draw in their only match played. Victoria City and the Wests have failed to put a point in the win column.

Last Saturday the Jokers notched up a 5 to 0 victory over the Wests, while the Thistles and Esquimalt fought to a 1 to 1 stalemate.

FEATURE MATCH. The Thistles-Jokers game will be the feature tilt this week-end. The Saanich club, opening their season last Saturday, held the strong Esquimalt eleven to draw. The Jokers have got away to a flying start with victories over the City and Wests and hope to make it three straight.

In the first match Esquimalt are favored to take the City into camp, although the latter held the Jokers to a 2 to 1 count in their only match played to date.

Delegates at the meeting of the Victoria and District League held yesterday evening at the Y.M.C.A., decided to hold a joint meeting with the Lower Island Football Association to discuss matters pertaining to local football.

PLAY KEEN IN SCHOOL GAMES

Keen competition marked last week's play in the public school soccer and girls' basketball divisions, the scores, assembled to-day, indicate.

In the junior soccer division Margaret Jenkins came back, after suffering a defeat two weeks ago, to hammer out a 2 to 0 victory over George Jay. Sir James Douglas and Boys' Central battled to a 1 to 1 tie. Victoria West took the decision from Esquimalt by a 1 to 0 count, while Oaklands outplayed Quadra Street to win 2 to 0.

In the girls' junior basketball Quadra Street and Sir James Douglas battled to a 14 to 14 draw. North Ward sharpshooters proved a little too accurate for Girls' Central, amassing a score of 24 against the latter's 16.

ONE-POINT WIN. The odd point gave Victoria West senior girls victory over Girls' Central. The final count being 15 to 14. North Ward sharpshooters proved a little too accurate for Girls' Central, amassing a score of 24 against the latter's 16.

Injured Thumb May Keep Sharkey Out For Most Of Winter

After Being Rejuvenated in Eyes of Boxing World Boston Heavyweight Forced Out of Action With Damaged Digit; Jimmy Johnston, New Vice-president and General Manager of Madison Square Garden, Plans Active Heavyweight Campaign for Indoor Season

New York, Oct. 14.—Jimmy Johnston, who will become vice-president and general manager of Madison Square Garden tomorrow, already has laid plans for a series of top-flight heavyweight bouts this winter but he may have to get along without the services of Jack Sharkey.

There were strong indications that Sharkey and his handlers were preparing to go into partial retirement until next summer on the theory that the Boston sailor's exciting victory over huge Primo Carnara entitles Sharkey to a "shot" at Max Schmeling's title next summer.

Johnston's plans for the next few months included a return match, indoors, between Sharkey and Carnara and another return battle between Sharkey and Tommy Loughran.

But now it develops that Sharkey's famous left thumb, cause of a twelve-day postponement of the Carnara match, will not heal on Monday night, and that Sharkey will not be able to fight for an indefinite period.

SCHAAF MAY SUBSTITUTE. If Jack persists in his winter hibernation plans, Johnston will have to look elsewhere for his talent. It was understood that Ernie Schauf, clouting Bostonian who is owned jointly by Sharkey and Sharkey's manager Johnny Sharkey, was prepared to step in and substitute for the sailor. Schauf, who has compiled a phenomenal string of victories in recent months, announces he is ready for any of the heavyweights, bearing Sharkey's cause.

Even if Johnston's plan for another Carnara-Sharkey fight fails, the chances are that Primo will not be idle. He already is slated to meet Paulino Uscudun, veteran Basque, in the Garden November 13. If he gets by the rugged Spaniard, Primo may get more work, possibly against Schauf or Loughran.

SHARKEY PAYS PART OF DEBT. New York, Oct. 14.—Jack Sharkey, man of moods, given to gusty displays of rage and lack of control that have ruined many a heavyweight spectacle, finally has paid part of his debt to boxing.

There was new life, new interest to-day in the heavyweight division, the barometer by which the success of the game as a whole is measured, and it was due to but one reason—the sailor's spectacular thumping of Primo Carnara in the biting winds that swept Ebbets Field Monday night.

Although a complete accounting was still lacking, Johnston, the most versatile promoter since the late Tex Rickard, said that the 25,000 paid prices ranging from $3 to $15 had braved the football weather to see the first thorough testing of the Italian giant.

The gross receipts were $129,700 and with government taxes subtracted, $107,070 was left for the fighters, and the management split the net $53,535 evenly, about $26,767 each, and there was plenty of profit for the promoter who finally has forced his rival, Eddie Segura, to capitulate and take him into the field.

Not since the wild-eyed sailor smashed down the black menace, old Harry Wells, just five years ago, to the night, and immediately catapulted himself into the front ranks of the heavyweights, has Ebbets Field seen a battle to equal Sharkey's latest conquest.

Sharkey's victory was every bit as important as his defeat of the big negro. Earlier this summer he fought the huge bulk of the Italian over fifteen rounds, flooring him once in a riotous session in the fourth round in which Primo might have been disqualified for going down to take the full benefit of a nine-count without being hit after he already had pulled himself groggily to his feet at six. Only the Italian's courage and ability to absorb punishment saved him.

Meanwhile Carnara has answered his critics in fair fashion. He is something other than a huge circus freak, possibly the largest body in modern fight history. He is faster than most fighters half his size, he has been perfectly schooled in defence, he has unlimited courage, tremendous strength and stamina.

NEVER BE A PUNCHER. But it seems conclusive now that Primo never will be a puncher, despite his size. He stabs neatly with a left jab but his right hand, backed by 261 pounds of muscle and bone, is no more damaging than the bolterous shove of a subway guard.

GOLD STANDARD ABANDONMENT IS DESCRIBED

Outline of English Situation
Given By Professor E. S.
Farr Before Kiwanis Club

"The decline in the value of the pound sterling was inevitable and was a natural seeking after a proper value governed by the laws of supply and demand," Professor E. S. Farr said in his address to the Kiwanis Club yesterday. "There was little likelihood of a total collapse," he said, "and the pound would probably be stabilized at a lower parity."

The unnatural preponderance of gold in the United States and France was laid to the hard payments of inter-allied debts, the obstructions to international trade and general political discord, and the remedy advanced for world conditions was better co-operation between the nations based on a more sincere accord and a new truth.

In his address Professor Farr pointed out the essential attributes of the gold standard. The value of the coin must coincide with the value of the metal, there must be free coinage and no restrictions on the melting of gold, he said.

Referring to the question of bi-metallicism, the speaker mentioned Gresham's Law, that bad money drives out good money, that the slightest market drop in the value of silver would cause people to hoard gold, and vice versa, and that, whether the system is called bi-metallic or not, it can be in reality only mono-metallic.

Under a gold standard, little variation occurred in the value of currency. The "points" of the pound sterling under such a system were $4.84 to $4.86. The changes were due to cost of shipping at a particular time. But when a country went off the gold standard, as Great Britain had now, as it did in the World War and during the years 1797-1816, great fluctuations were common. During the Civil War, when the United States went off the standard, the pound sterling was valued at $14.60.

After the last war, France and Germany both deflated their currencies and sought the easy way out. But Great Britain, with the prestige of the world financial market to uphold, declined to follow this policy of repudiation and tried to keep gold at the old par. This was a heroic gesture, said Prof. Farr.

PLACES BLAME
The recent Macmillan report, brought out by a committee of experts in England, blamed Winston Churchill "jacking up" the value of sterling from $3.90 to $4.86 and pointed out that this course increased the internal debt, increased imports, decreased exports and unsteadied the Bank of England.

The natural climax occurred September 20, when Britain was compelled to abandon the gold standard temporarily. But this abandonment, the speaker emphasized, was merely the last step in the process.

The first step was the banking crisis in Vienna, followed by that in Berlin. Then came the breakdown in international credit. People became suspicious and wanted their money home. The last three months, said Professor Farr, supplied one of the best examples possible of the interdependence of nations. England, which had been trying to preserve Austria's and Germany's buying power, suddenly found her creditors insistent, and the withdrawal of funds from England rocked the whole financial structure.

Continuing his outline of the steps that brought on the abandonment of the gold standard, the speaker pointed out that from mid-July to mid-August the Bank of England was drained of $22,000,000. She therefore raised the discount rate from 2½ to 4½ per cent to stop this. Then came a loan of $250,000,000 to her from the Bank of France and the Federal Reserve Bank of the United States. Then the parliamentary budgetary committee brought in their report condemning the financial situation and predicting a budget deficit for 1932-33 of £120,000,000.

FALL OF GOVERNMENT

These gloomy happenings resulted in the outflow of foreign capital. Then the Labor Government tried balancing the budget, but their proposal to lessen unemployment benefits resulted in their fall. Next came another loan of $400,000,000 from the United States. The Labor Government made arrangements for the exchange. The National Government, newly formed, then set itself the task of balancing the budget. Premier MacDonald was denounced by his followers in the House of Commons. The British Navy was ruffled by proposed pay cuts, and because of the general unrest the London market had lost £1,000,000,000.

The immediate causes were a recurrence of unbalanced budgets, the failure of producers to reduce costs and modernize their equipment and the new competition of the industrialized Far East in certain vital industries.

REMEDIES

The proposed remedies included that of the Conservatives—a preservation of the home market as to reduce unemployment and lessen the debt burden; that of balancing the budget at all costs, and that advanced by the Laborites which sought to attack the $40,000,000,000 of British capital invested abroad and tax it heavily.

Two results of Great Britain going off the gold standard were other countries following the same course and the possibility of an increase in commodity prices in Great Britain, which led to the British leaders legislating against profiteering. The effect on the money market was yet impossible to gauge, the speaker concluded.

Great Central, Oct. 14. — Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Farris, accompanied by their daughter, Louise, spent the week-end at Shawanigan Lake. Mrs. B. W. Mann spent the week-end at Victoria, visiting her daughter, Dorothy, who is a student nurse at St. Joseph's Hospital.

SAY COUNCIL NOT SHOWING CO-OPERATION

Esquimalt Board Complains of Lack of Information

Members of the Esquimalt Board of Trade, at their meeting in the Parish Hall yesterday evening, took exception to the reply to their request that the council of that municipality keep the board informed of work being done to assist the unemployed at the district.

The reply stated that the board was at liberty to secure information from the municipal clerk, but information other than that which he could give out would not be furnished them. Members of the board claimed the council was not working in co-operation with them. Some time ago the trade group wrote to the council asking it to furnish data on the advancement of plans for the taking over of Admiralty Road by the provincial government as an arterial highway. It also asked for information on the other unemployment relief projects.

At yesterday evening's meeting the board also considered a resolution from the secretary of the Associated Boards of Trade of Vancouver Island urging the association make arrangements for a gathering of the members of the resolutions committee before the next convention. A move to have the convention called earlier in the day was unanimously passed. A copy of the resolutions passed at the recent meeting of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, held in Regina, was received and filed.

FRANCO-SCOT TIES TRACED

Friendship Between Nations
Centuries Old, Dr. A. O. McRae Tells Burns Club

Even in the days of Robert Bruce a strong friendship between the Scot and the Frenchman was apparent. Dr. A. O. McRae told members of the Burns Club at a well-attended meeting in the Chamber of Commerce auditorium yesterday evening in an address in which he traced the bonds between the two nations.

When Bruce was fighting the English, French forces had assisted him. When Mary Queen of Scots was in arms against the Tudors, the fleur de lys banner was seen in many a battle-field, and when the Stuarts sought to regain their thrones the battalions of France supported their claims, the speaker declared.

Through these unions considerable intermarriage took place between the two peoples. The effect of the French words incorporated in the many French words incorporated in the Highland vernacular.

SCOTTISH STRAIN IN FRANCE

On the continent there was also a strong Scottish strain resulting from the mixture of the two races during the Hundred Years War and other conflicts in which the clans of the north assisted their friends across the English Channel.

Dr. McRae, in the course of his address, read a humorous French journal in which an unfortunate French nobleman suffered the assiduous attention of a Scottish piper on his visit to the Highlands. Although he finally realized the playing was intended as an honor to him, he expressed a greater desire for the quiet of the night than the unintelligible skirling of the bagpipes.

John Hosie, president of the club, and J. G. Brown voiced the thanks of the assembly for the scholarly address. Votes of appreciation were also accorded the singers: Mrs. Bertram Mayell, who rendered "Callie Herring," and "John Anderson," R. M. Humphries, who sang "The Blind Ploughman," and Catherine Craig, who contributed Pauline Johnson's "Paddle Song."

In the classifications of the American College of Surgeons, the Jubilee Hospital and St. Joseph's Hospital in Victoria are listed as "fully approved," according to announcement at the annual hospital standardization conference held in New York Monday when the names of the city's two largest nursing institutions were included in this class.

A number of other B.C. hospitals are included in the fully approved list, as follows: Esquimalt Provincial Mental Hospital, Kamloops Royal Inland Hospital, the Royal Columbian Hospital, New Westminster, the Transvaal Sanatorium, and the following four Vancouver institutions: Grace Hospital, the Sisters of Charity St. Paul's Hospital, the Dominion Government Hospital at Shaughnessy Heights and the Vancouver General Hospital.

The RECORD SPEAKS for ITSELF

In opening the Canadian National Exhibition at Toronto on Friday, August 28, Earl Jellicoe said: "Over a period of 52 years, the population of Canada has increased by 6,000,000; the revenue of the Government from $22,000,000 to $460,000,000 and the value of her trade from $169,000,000 to $2,400,000,000. In the same time, her manufactures have increased ten-fold and her crop acreage three-fold. This remarkable record encourages a feeling of optimism for the future."

Earl Jellicoe also made the following reference: "Canada's record growth constitutes an achievement of world importance and stands as a challenge to future progress. This phenomenal growth is the direct result of that splendid courage and determination which the people of Canada showed so strikingly from 1914-1918".

The record for public favour which is held by Turret Cigarettes is the natural outcome of quality consistently maintained throughout the years. After all, nothing can replace good, honest tobacco; grown and ripened right out in the field under nature's own sunlight—nothing artificial about that—and the high quality is "inbred".

Rheumatic Heart Disease Is

Most Serious Child Ailment

Early Diagnosis and Constant Care Is Necessary

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEN

There is no cause of death more serious for a child than rheumatic heart disease. In the children that it does not kill it produces often complete crippling of the heart with long periods of invalidism. The condition is difficult to diagnose early and its control, once established, takes the scientific knowledge and ability of the best of physicians.

Recently a group of Minneapolis physicians surveyed the records of 808 children between five and ten years of age who were studied at one clinic in that city because they had signs and symptoms indicating heart disease and rheumatic manifestations. Children were studied by all the scientific means now available, including the taking of the complete record of the child's condition from birth, a record of its fever, an examination of the chest by the usual listening and percussing or thumping methods, the use of the electrocardiograph and of the X-ray.

It is not possible in this form of heart disease to depend on the presence of a murmur as a certain diagnostic sign, because it has now been shown that murmurs may occur in children for all sorts of reasons. A murmur which comes and goes and which is not definitely present is frequently confusing and not indicative of some definite disease.

The X-ray shows whether or not there is any beginning enlargement of the heart or any change in its position. The electrocardiograph is not a certain means of diagnosis, although it is frequently helpful in showing some disturbance of the action of the heart.

Of great significance, particularly so far as parents can be helped, is the detection of what are called growing pains. Growing pains include those vague and general discomforts that occur chiefly in the legs and in the arms, and sometimes in the joints. They affect also the muscles of the body. Growing pains are an indication of the necessity for a very careful examination of the child for the presence of rheumatic conditions. Quite frequently these pains are found in children who are not rheumatic in any way, but their presence is a warning signal which should not be neglected.

Of special importance are pains in the abdomen which cannot be definitely associated with any disturbance of digestion. In such a case an exceedingly careful study of the heart should be made in order to find out whether there is any beginning disturbance. This is of the greatest importance because to-day the primary hope of arresting the progress of this serious disorder is early and complete rest in bed with the constant attention of a physician who will attempt to control the symptoms as they develop.

Ted Phelps Will Not Oppose Burns

London, Oct. 14.—Ted Phelps, professional sculling champion of the world, has declined a bid from George Towns, promoter and former champion of Australia, for a match against the present Australian champion, Burns. Phelps declares the guarantee of expenses which comes and goes and which has been led unjustifiably to predict disaster.

Canada would be one of the first countries to recover from the present depression, the premier forecast, with her peacetime populace showing the same dominant qualities of courage that her youths did in war. He claimed the policies initiated by Premier Bennett were bringing prosperity, with more than 100 new factories set in operation in Ontario and Quebec, creating employment for many hundreds of men. With the revision of tariffs ending dumping of foreign fruits and vegetables, he said Canada was now fast building up a domestic market for her own commodities, with Ontario and British Columbia sharing the benefits in supplying the needs of the prairie market.

CIRCULATING MONEY IN B.C.

The premier referred to the manner in which his government was keeping money in circulation at home by buying and using exclusively Canadian products in its camps. He explained that upwards of $30,000 a day was being put into circulation in allowances to the men, their food and supplies and the circulation of this money was beginning to be felt in all lines of business.

Pointing to the accumulation of $50,000,000 increase in savings deposits in chartered banks of Canada, the premier urged the people who had that money to put some of it back into circulation and spend in moderation. He declared now was the time to buy.

Tribute to the late John A. Bucknery, a former speaker of the Provincial Legislature, who died Monday, was paid by the premier. He said Mr. Bucknery's death would be keenly felt by members of both sides of the House.

Mr. Dickie, in his speech, declared that Canada was solid, and had immense natural resources upon which to draw when worst conditions menaced. Until this time, he urged, peace and quiet courage.

OTHER OFFICERS CHOSEN

Besides President Wallace, Mrs. F. F. Osborne as first vice-president, A. R. Sherwood as third vice-president and W. J. Lynn and Mrs. W. O. Wallace as delegates at large to the executive. Premier Bennett, Premier Tolmie and Mr. Dickie were elected honorary officers. Resolutions of confidence in the Dominion and provincial governments were passed.

MANY PRESENTATIONS

Premier Tolmie made the presentation of the association's illuminated address to Mr. Wallace. Mr. Dickie presented the certificate and holder as the gift of the association to Mr. Spurr. The premier also presented a large basket of flowers to Mrs. Osborne, and Mr. Osborne presented baskets of flowers to Mrs. Tolmie and Mrs. Dickie. Button holes were presented all around to the men.

PREMIER SEES SILVER LINING TO DARK CLOUDS

People Inclined to Take Too Serious a View of Conditions, He Declares

W. Q. Wallace Re-elected President of Saanich Conservatives; Presentations Made

Premier Tolmie, speaking last evening at the annual meeting of the Saanich Central Conservative Association in the Campbell Building, again predicted a new era of greater prosperity for the whole of Canada, which, he declared, was more fortunate than other countries and would be in the lead of the world to recovery.

While the Temple pastor's association, was re-elected by acclamation.

TOO SERIOUS A VIEW UNJUSTIFIED

In his address on returning prosperity, the premier pointed out there was a common tendency among men to take too serious a view of the situation in times like these. This, he declared, had been shown in the past when able men had been led unjustifiably to predict disaster.

Canada would be one of the first countries to recover from the present depression, the premier forecast, with her peacetime populace showing the same dominant qualities of courage that her youths did in war. He claimed the policies initiated by Premier Bennett were bringing prosperity, with more than 100 new factories set in operation in Ontario and Quebec, creating employment for many hundreds of men. MISS R. V. JONES WEDS SEATTLEITE

Pretty Wedding Solemnized in Sound City Last Saturday

A wedding of interest to many Victorians took place in Seattle last Saturday, when Rosa Viola, only daughter of Mrs. D. L. Jones and the late Capt. Jones, became the bride of Virg E. McAllister, son of Mrs. R. Schaf of Seattle. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Lockheart of the Greenlake Methodist Church.

The bride was charming in her frock of white georgette fashioned with aiki of petal-shaped flounces gathered on closely-fitted bodice. She carried a shower bouquet of Ophelia roses and jasmine, and was attended by Miss J. Billington, of Victoria, in a small blue ensemble, with corsage of sweet heart roses and violets. J. Bennett, Seattle, supported the groom.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the groom's mother. Among the out-of-town guests were Mrs. D. L. Jones, Miss Billington and Miss Sadie Gibbs of Billington.

JUDGE AWARDS $535 DAMAGES TO MOTOR VICTIM

R. A. Wright Wins Action Against T. W. MacPherson in County Court

An automobile collision at Montreal and Superior Streets between cars driven by R. A. Wright and Thomas Wallace MacPherson resulted in Judge Lamont in the County Court to-day awarding Mr. Wright $535 damages and dismissing the counter-claim made for Mr. MacPherson by his counsel, H. C. Hall, K.C.

"I am strongly of the opinion that people who injure others with motor cars should be made to pay well if at fault," said the judge.

R. C. Lowe, counsel for Mr. Wright, in presenting the case for the plaintiff, appealed for an allowance for the physical suffering and anguish born by his client as a result of the crash.

The judge, in making up the total award to $535, said he would allow $300 for Mr. Wright's general damages and loss of time. The Wright car was so completely smashed as to be valueless, the judge decided. Its value was placed at $400, and the judge allowed for the much with which to replace it.

"It is quite clear that the collision took place because of the failure of MacPherson to let Wright take his right-of-way at the intersection," the judge said. "There was no particular difficulty about the crossing in question, but MacPherson's failure to keep a proper lookout in approaching the corner, and as a result collided with Wright's car, which had got into the intersection well ahead."

To fix the damage for loss of time and for pain and suffering is more difficult. There can be no doubt he suffered considerable injury and pain, and in respect of this I do not think I should be too cautious as to MacPherson's purse."

COCAINE CASE GOES TO JURY

Assize Court Trial of Chan Yew For Distributing Drugs Closes

At 2:42 o'clock this afternoon the jury brought in a verdict of guilty in the case of Chan Yew, Chinese, charged with distributing drugs.

In the Assize Court this morning Mr. Justice Murphy and a jury concluded hearing evidence against Chan Yew on a charge of having distributed cocaine last July 31 and August 1. His lordship instructed the jury and it retired at 1:10 o'clock to consider the verdict.

Gordon A. Cameron was Crown prosecutor, J. B. Clearhugh represented the accused and R. A. Wootton appeared for the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

The only witness presented this morning was the accused, who took the stand in his own defence. He said he had been friends with the informer Joe You, and had smoked opium together. When he had met Joe on August 1 he had been given tobacco from which he was rolling a cigarette when he was arrested.

Mr. Cameron ascertained that the witness did not know how much opium was in a "deck" costing $1. He had been given opium by Joe on July 31 and August 1, but had not supplied smoking opium to Joe for more than one month prior to his arrest. He did not know what cocaine was or how it was packaged. The room he occupied in the Alway was also used by two other men, who slept in the beds. The witness said he slept on the floor.

Mr. Clearhugh in his address said the chief witness for the prosecution was an admitted drug addict. He suggested that the Royal Canadian Mounted Police had been imposed upon by an unemployed man who was getting desperate.

"Joe You had possibly heard of other men who had been paid $4 daily for drug information. Then he had to make good or he would not get the money he had been promised," counsel said.

This case reminds one of Judas Iscariot. Joe You admits he was willing to betray his friend to earn $4 a day from the police; is his word to be believed? Mr. Clearhugh concluded.

Replying to the Crown, Mr. Cameron said the evidence of Joe You was corroborated by police officers, who had kept him under close scrutiny and witnessed transfer of something between the prisoner and the informer. Mr. Justice Murphy instructed the jury that the Supreme Court of Canada had recently ruled that at least two acts of sale must be proven to maintain a charge of distributing a drug. The case was not one needing corroboration, the witness Joe You was not an accomplice, and the jury were entitled to convict if they believed his evidence.

MOVEMENTS OF GRAIN LIGHTER

Canadian Press
Vancouver, Oct. 14.—Grain movement from Vancouver during the past week was very light, according to the statistics of the Vancouver Grain Merchants' Exchange, the total for the seven days being but 525,468 bushels. The total export for the season was 7,989,218 bushels, compared with 10,414,238 bushels for the corresponding period last year.

Elevator stocks remain just above the 8,000,000 bushels mark, and the railways have 2,063,000 bushels on hand or in transit, and the bookings for the balance of October total 1,109,067 bushels. November bookings already disclosed show a total of 1,694,665 bushels.

There are ships in port to-day to load 372,000 bushels, and the bookings for the balance of October total 1,109,067 bushels. November bookings already disclosed show a total of 1,694,665 bushels.

The accident occurred on Connaught Bridge, Vancouver, when, turning out to pass a car ahead, Price collided with the bus, driven by Leadbury. Price's car crashed through a steel bridge rail and dropped forty feet into the water below.

He left the widow and six children.

Economies In Vancouver Relief Control Desired

Vancouver, Oct. 14.—A survey of the Vancouver relief department will be made by Helliwell, MacLachlan & Co., the city's external auditors, to ascertain how far, in what respects, and with what results, their reorganization recommendations have been implemented.

This was decided yesterday afternoon by the city council, in adopting a resolution sponsored by Ald. W. G. Miller and Ald. E. Graves, after the council had battled at length over dismissal of A. J. McCabe, relief department clerk, who was given notice of discharge by Relief Officer H. W. Cooper, effective October 31.

The resolution requiring the survey also asked for auditors to state what suggestions, any they have to offer for improvements in the department, and that they may be instructed to report on the increase in the cost of administration of the department and any economies they think could be effected in this regard.

PUGET SOUNDERS MEET SATURDAY

Plans For Next Joint Advertising Campaign Will Be Discussed

Assessments on the cities interested in the next campaign of the Puget Sounders and British Columbian Associated will be discussed at a meeting to be held in the Hotel Vancouver on Saturday with representatives present from the Pacific Coast cities interested in the joint advertising scheme.

The sum of $45,000 was contributed by Vancouver, Victoria, Seattle, Tacoma, Long View, Bellingham and the Olympic Peninsula Development League was spent this summer in California, Oregon and in the Saturday Evening Post advertising. Inaugurated seven years ago, Pacific Northwest cities have since joined hands in advertising the Pacific Northwest as the evergreen country, with considerable success. Inquiries received from the campaign are distributed to the cities contributing, and the joint advertising is claimed to have been effective in directing thousands of additional tourists to Puget Sound resorts.

Reports on the year's activities will be presented at the meeting Saturday. Brenton S. Brown, president, will be in the chair. David Leeming, president of the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau and George J. Warren, publicity commissioner, will be the Victoria delegates.

TRIBUTE PAID TO EX-SPEAKER

Conscientious, Loyal and Able Legislator, Says Senator King of J. A. Buckham

"For nearly thirty years I had known John Buckham intimately and throughout that long period I valued him as a warm personal friend," said Senator J. H. King, former Minister of Public Works for British Columbia and later for the Dominion, when he learned of the death of the provincial member for Columbia. "In my association with him as a member of the Legislature I found him an able legislator, loyal to his colleagues and thoroughly conscientious in the discharge of his public duties. He was the possessor of many fine qualities, strictly honorable in all his dealings, while his fund of good humor, even in the years of failing health, never deserted him. He will be missed by a large number who knew him intimately. The province, indeed, has lost a good citizen and the Legislature a valued member."

POLICE BALL DATE FIXED

Annual Function to Be Held at Empress Hotel on Dec. 4

Victoria's much-discussed police ball will be held on December 4.

The Police Mutual Benefit Association decided this at a meeting yesterday afternoon and the executive will strike committee to handle the function this evening.

The scene of the annual event will again be the Empress Hotel, and it is planned to make it the finest ever held by the department.

The dance is under the patronage of the Board of Police Commissioners, which gave official sanction to the problem for a month.

Delay in the decision of the board of police in the late date for the ball is usually held in November. However, this has not deterred the association from its plans to make the dance the outstanding function of the season.

Reserve Judgment On Widow's Appeal Rejected in B.C.

Ottawa, Oct. 14.—Judgment was reserved by the Supreme Court of Canada to-day on the appeal of Mrs. Marjorie Price of Vancouver, against the British Columbia Motor Transportation Limited and William Leadbury and Grey Line Co. of that city. The suits followed rejection by the British Columbia Court of Appeal of a judgment granting damages of $15,000 to Mrs. Price on account of the death of her husband, A. F. Price, who was killed in a collision between his motor car and a bus owned by the B.C. Motor Transportation Co.

The accident occurred on Connaught Bridge, Vancouver, when, turning out to pass a car ahead, Price collided with the bus, driven by Leadbury. Price's car crashed through a steel bridge rail and dropped forty feet into the water below.

He left the widow and six children.

IRISH SAFETY BILL SPEEDED

Dublin, Irish Free State, Oct. 14.—The government of President William T. Cosgrave won the first step in its fight to push the drastic public-safety bill through the Dail Eireann to-day. Leave to introduce the bill was given by a vote of 82 to 64, all independent members and two Labor members voting on the government side.

Although details of the measure have been kept secret, it is understood it would confer extraordinary powers on the police to deal with emergencies and would provide for the establishment of military courts for trial of persons charged with sedition or outrages.

MAN WHO KILLED HUNTER SOUGHT

Marcus McAbee Found Dead in Bridge Lake District; Police Seek Slayer

Provincial police are seeking the slayer of Marcus McAbee of Ashcroft, whose body was found in the woods of the Bridge Lake district last Saturday.

According to word received at police headquarters here yesterday, McAbee went hunting in the Bridge Lake area and when he did not return a search was made and the body discovered in the woods. He had been shot, apparently by another hunter, and the body left.

Sergeant W. Wood of the Provincial Police Department is trying to locate the person who fired the fatal shot, as the position of the body when found discounted the possibility of an accident.

BRANSON, BROWN CASE DELAYED

In the Assize Court this afternoon, Mr. Justice Murphy refused to let the Crown proceed in the prosecution of Branson, Brown & Company Limited on a charge of attempting to fraudulently convert twenty Yellow Truck shares the property of A. G. Graham. The case was held over until to-morrow to permit filing of certain notices required by statute.

The court then proceeded to try the case of Dornine Pallantier, charged with shooting at Ernest Kruse with intent to maim.

Early Gains In Wheat Market Not Maintained And Final Prices Lower

Winnipeg, Oct. 14.—Falling to maintain their early strength, final wheat prices today showed depreciations ranging from 1/4 to 1/2. October was off 1/4 at 58 1/2, split. November 1/4 at 58 1/2, split. December 1/4 at 58 1/2, split. May 1/4 at 58 1/2, split. Trading started off briskly and prices advanced to show net gains over yesterday, but a full import trade and considerable hedging turned the early improvement into net losses. The hedging came from elevator interests. In the early stages of the session heavy buying orders, particularly from houses with foreign connections, bolstered the market temporarily by rapidly absorbing the large offerings. Liverpool prices also were a shade easier, reflecting the pause in import purchasing. The Buenos Aires market also was softer.

Locally there was a demand for the top grades of cash wheat, but offerings were only moderate and trading was not active. Demand for Durum was not heavy.

There was a moderate export business in oats, which proved the feature of the cash and contract grains. Some export inquiry for rye was evident, but no sales were reported.

Trading in the futures market was fairly active, with good buying through commission houses of pro-bus grain commodities and purchases of rye.

Only Those Who Knew the Cloistered Women of Thirty Years Ago Can Appreciate the Freedom of the Modern Woman, Her Changed View of Marriage, Her High Yet Sensible Conception of Motherhood

WE WERE speaking of the changes that have come to women in the last quarter of a century. Perhaps the greatest of them all is the change in woman's own place in the world. It is hard to realize that only a generation ago most girls were excess baggage so far as their parents were concerned, that they had no definite purpose in life except getting married.

Few gainful occupations were open to women and these were ill paid. There was nothing interesting or exciting for a girl to do. No way for her to make money. If she came of a poor family she had to go shabby and wear the cast-off clothes of better-off relatives and if she lived to be ninety and was still unmarried, she had to be chaperoned wherever she went.

A respectable woman was not supposed to have any ambitions and one who followed any sort of career was looked at askance. For any female to have the reputation of being strong-minded damned her more effectively than a scandal would have done. No girl would have dreamed of going about with just another girl for company after dark. As for her going to the theatre or to a lecture or taking trips or setting up her own little flat with a girl chum, that was out of the question. It was one of the things that simply was not done.

Behold the change. Nowadays every girl expects to be financially independent just as much as a boy does. She plans her career and fits herself for some special work just as a boy does. She does not wear her soul out in envious longing for the pretty clothes and the frills and the frolics that rich girls' fathers give them. She hustles out and makes the money to buy them for herself.

Life is just as full of opportunities for sister as it is for brother. She can do pretty much everything that he can do and a lot of things that he cannot. Not her sex, but her ability, is her limit. She can have a good job or her own business. She can have her own home, and her own pots and pans and her own circle of friends. She can travel. She can have a million interests and amusements that the girl of the past never dreamed of. Thirty years ago to be born a woman was a curse. Now it has almost turned into a cliché.

Then there is woman's changed attitude toward marriage. To grandmother the altar was the supreme goal, and, failing to reach it, was cinders, ashes and dust. That was inevitable, for matrimony was at once a woman's meal ticket, her emancipation proclamation, and her pass into society, since an old maid had no financial independence and had always to be the fringe on the family of some relative who did not want her.

Undoubtedly, every girl would like to marry, because the mating instinct is one of the primal forces of nature, but behind this urge is no longer the economic necessity, nor the boredom of a life that has nothing in it if it lacks husband and children. Any intelligent able-bodied woman can support herself as well as the average man does his wife and any office or shop offers the business woman fully as many thrills and interest as she is likely to find in the kitchen.

Nor does the girl of to-day dope herself up on the sticky sentimentality that her grandmother did, nor cast a romantic cloak, embroidered with her maiden dreams, over the entire masculine sex. The modern flapper no more believes in Fairy Princes than she does in Santa Claus. She has worked side by side with too many men to have any illusions about them.

She knows that marriage is not the beginning of an idyl in which "they lived happily ever after," as the old-fashioned novelist used to say, but that it means for the woman harder work than she ever did before; fewer good clothes and pleasures and putting up with peculiarities of a man that takes all that his wife does for him for granted and does not think it is half enough. So marriage is one of the things in life that the girls now feel they can either take or leave and when they take it, it is with a mental reservation that if they do not like it, they will not stick to it.

Grandmother had to stand grandfather, no matter how unfaithful he was, no matter how much of a drunkard he was, no matter how brutally he treated her, because she had no way of supporting herself and her children and because divorce was a disgrace, but granddaughter does not have to endure domestic conditions that make her life intolerable. And she does not.

But perhaps the most curious change of all in women is the way they have come to look upon motherhood. The ideal mother of the past was the woman who was so much a mother that she was hardly human; the woman who never went anywhere or read anything or talked about anything except the colic after her first baby was born. She accounted it unto herself for righteousness that she absorbed herself in her children. She felt that mothering was a virtue that she could not overdo and the more she made her children dependent upon her, the better she felt that she was doing her duty.

The modern mother's idea of motherhood is not a monopoly. It is a trust. She feels that her children have a right to their own lives and to live them in their own way. Therefore, she cuts the apron strings while they are still toddlers and avoids giving them a mother fixation that may handicap them through life. She teaches them to stand on their own feet, make their own decisions, and when the time comes for them to leave the home nest she gives them a boost into the air instead of trying to clip their wings.

Such are some of the differences between grandmother and granddaughter. Perhaps not all of the changes that women have made in the last thirty years are for the better, but undoubtedly life is a more interesting thing for women now than it has ever been before.

Glimpses of Japan

A visitor to Japan once remarked, "The Japanese speak backward, read backward and write backward."

Japanese "School Girls"

Whether they do these things "backward" or "forward" depends on the point of view. We must remember to them it seems as though they did the "right" way and that we read "wrong" way.

On the other hand, it seems strange that the front cover of one of their books should be what we call back cover. We also find it strange that they should read books by moving their eyes up and down the pages instead of across.

In looking through a Japanese book the other day, I noticed that Arabic figures—the same kind we use—are employed to number the pages. Circles, instead of dots, are used for periods.

The Japanese obtained their written language from the Chinese. It is made up of thousands of "picture-words." Most of the picture-words have been changed in the course of time, so that they no longer look like the objects they stand for; but a few of them still carry out the picture idea fairly well. An oblong figure, for example, stands for the word "mouth" and looks something like an open mouth. The word for "man" was once like a drawing of a man, but time has changed it so "man" is written by a pair of legs!

Public schools now exist in every part of Japan and more than 97 per cent of the boys and girls attend the lower schools. The government does not allow any form of religion to be taught in the schools. When a woman in our land threads a needle, she commonly pushes the thread through the needle. The Japanese woman "slips the eye of the needle over the point of the thread." A Japanese carpenter shaves wood by pulling the plane over the wood, instead of pushing the plane as one of our carpenters would do. Japanese folk are not fond of telling how rich they are or how well they can do things. They speak of how poor they are, or how much they lack skill, or what wretched houses they live in. They believe in talking "modestly," but I am not sure that they always mean what they say!

Among those who are taking the principal parts in the forthcoming production of "The Beauty Shop," the musical comedy by George M. Among those may be mentioned Mrs. Betty Hetherington, Miss Vivian Coombe, Art Kerr and A. W. Trevitt. The cast of principals is as follows: Vivian, Dr. Budd's secretary, Betty Hetherington; Gladys, French custodian of Shop, Mae Harling; Hiram

CAPITOL THEATRE

Marian Marsh, counted the greatest screen discovery of the year, who made her screen debut in support of John Barrymore in "Svengali," is now to be seen at the Capitol Theatre in "Five Star Final." First National screen version of Louis Weitzenborn's Broadway stage hit. Miss Marsh appears in support of Edward G. Robinson, who stars as managing editor of a modern scandal sheet—a man whose real humanity at last triumphs over his apparent ruthlessness.

DOMINION THEATRE

While writing the screen play of "Merely Mary Ann," current Janet Gaynor-Charmes Farrell production at the Dominion Theatre, Jules Furthman was anxious to incorporate the words of the theme song. When he conferred with James Hanley, who was writing the music, the composer suggested that Furthman do the words while he wrote the melody. The result was that "Kiss Me Goodnight, Not Goodbye" has co-authors, Hanley and Furthman.

PLAYHOUSE THEATRE

"Our Wives," rollicking matrimonial frolic, is the attraction at the Playhouse this week, where the G. Donald Gray Players are playing a stock season. Comedy is the keynote in "Our Wives," and it never fails to please the audiences. With G. Donald Gray and Mary Moe in the leading roles, well supported by the other members of the company, "Our Wives" will run all week, with matinees Wednesday and Saturday at 2:30 o'clock and night shows commencing at 8 o'clock. G. Donald Gray sings Kipling's rousing old song of India, "On the Road to Mandalay."

COLISEUM THEATRE

Jack Holt, who has been wearing some very dapper uniforms in his last few pictures, will not look so trim and dashing in his newest one, "Fifty Fathoms Deep," the Columbia drama, showing to-day at the Coliseum Theatre. During a good part of the picture he will be garbed in the bulky but interesting deep sea diving outfit. The picture is said to depict the exploits of two deep sea divers played by Jack Holt and Richard Cromwell, on land and sea. Loretta Sayers is the lady in question in their amorous adventures.

COLUMBIA THEATRE

"The Colonel's Lady" and Mrs. O'Grady are sisters under the skin—and so are farmers and talkie stars, at least in hard work. In the six weeks required to produce Radio Pictures' wartime comedy, "Half Shot at Sunrise," featuring Bert Wheeler and Robert Woolsey, now at the Columbia Theatre, the shortest day's work was from sunrise to sunset. Twice, the entire cast and Paul Sloane, director, worked in twenty-four-hour shifts. Most of the production was made on location and the long days were necessary to take full advantage of the sunlight.

Cyril Maude to Open At Capitol To-morrow

Drama of English society life, scintillating comedy from the inimitable pen of Michael Arlen, portrayed by Cyril Maude and an all-star cast, lifts the film, "These Charming People," coming to the Capitol Theatre to-morrow, into a niche by itself for fine technique and brilliant acting. Cyril Maude, well groomed and dapper as the impetuous colonel, gets off his lines with clearness, precision and rich humor, flashing into gravity just at the right time, showing the value of long years of training that have gone to make him the great actor he is. He is backed by a splendid cast, with Nora Swinburne and Godfrey well in the lead. This is the first Paramount British talking picture, and under the direction of Louise Mercanton the settings are sumptuously artistic and the recording is perfect.

COMING TO COLISEUM

The management of the Coliseum Theatre announces that it has been fortunate enough to be able to book "White Cargo," the all-talking picture based on the sensational play of the same name. This is the picture which caused such a stir when shown at the George M. Cohan Theatre, New York. Comment in the New York newspapers regarding this vivid film transcription went far beyond the motion picture columns and for days was featured in the news pages of the Gotham press. The picture follows the story of the play rigidly and the acting and dialogue come from the talking screen exactly as they did from behind the footlights. As those who saw the play will remember, it is a vivid romance of white men and primitive women in the tropics. The engagement at the Coliseum Theatre will start on Saturday.

ACTRESS FROM ENGLAND WILL APPEAR HERE

Lady George Cholmondeley to Start Canadian Tour in Montreal November 30

Doubtless due to the fact that her engagements have been confined to the London and English provincial theatres, the reputation of Lady George Cholmondeley as an actress of brilliant gifts is not so well established abroad as it is in the Old Country. Yet Lady Cholmondeley, who will open her transatlantic tour of plays, mime and dances, under the auspices of the Civic Repertory of Montreal, at Halifax on November 30, is a player with a wide experience who has achieved great success and won the plaudits of the London theatre-going public in a number of trying roles.

After a sound theatrical training under Duse's half-sister, Rosini Filippi, Lady Cholmondeley began her career under the best possible auspices, with Grenville Barker, one of the greatest theatrical geniuses England has ever produced. Lady Cholmondeley has played in almost the whole of the acted Shakespearean repertoire, has had a wide experience in classic drama, has been responsible for some of the best ballets in some of the largest spectacular productions, such as the "Bluebird," and has been connected in one way or another on the stage with the most eminent figures in the London theatre of to-day. She is as good a director as she is an actress, a very rare thing to find in any artist. Lady Cholmondeley has selected her company for the forthcoming Canadian tour with the greatest care. Her leading man will be Norman Page, one of the best-known of English actors, a producer of note, who has played in most of the original productions of Shaw, Galsworthy and Massfield, was one of Sir Herbert's most trusted lieutenants, and one of the principal instructors at the Royal Academy of Dramatic Art. Mr. Page has played literally hundreds of parts on the English stage and has toured Australia. For the ballets Lady Cholmondeley has specially secured the services of Monsieur Algranoff, who will be remembered in Montreal for his brilliant partnership with Anna Pavlova and Aubrey Hitchins, probably the greatest of English male dancers to-day. With special music written by England's greatest composers, including Sir Elgar and Arnold Bax, and specially painted scenery, Lady Cholmondeley hopes to make this a notable one.

COMING TO CAPITOL

Mae Clarke, who plays the lead in "Waterloo Bridge," the big attraction at the Capitol Theatre on Monday next, is coming out of the engagement with a prospect of being one of the most brilliant of the newer stars of the screen. Carl Laemmle Jr. picked her for the role, James Whale was tremendously impressed with her test, and now comes Robert E. Sherwood to continue throughout the week.
